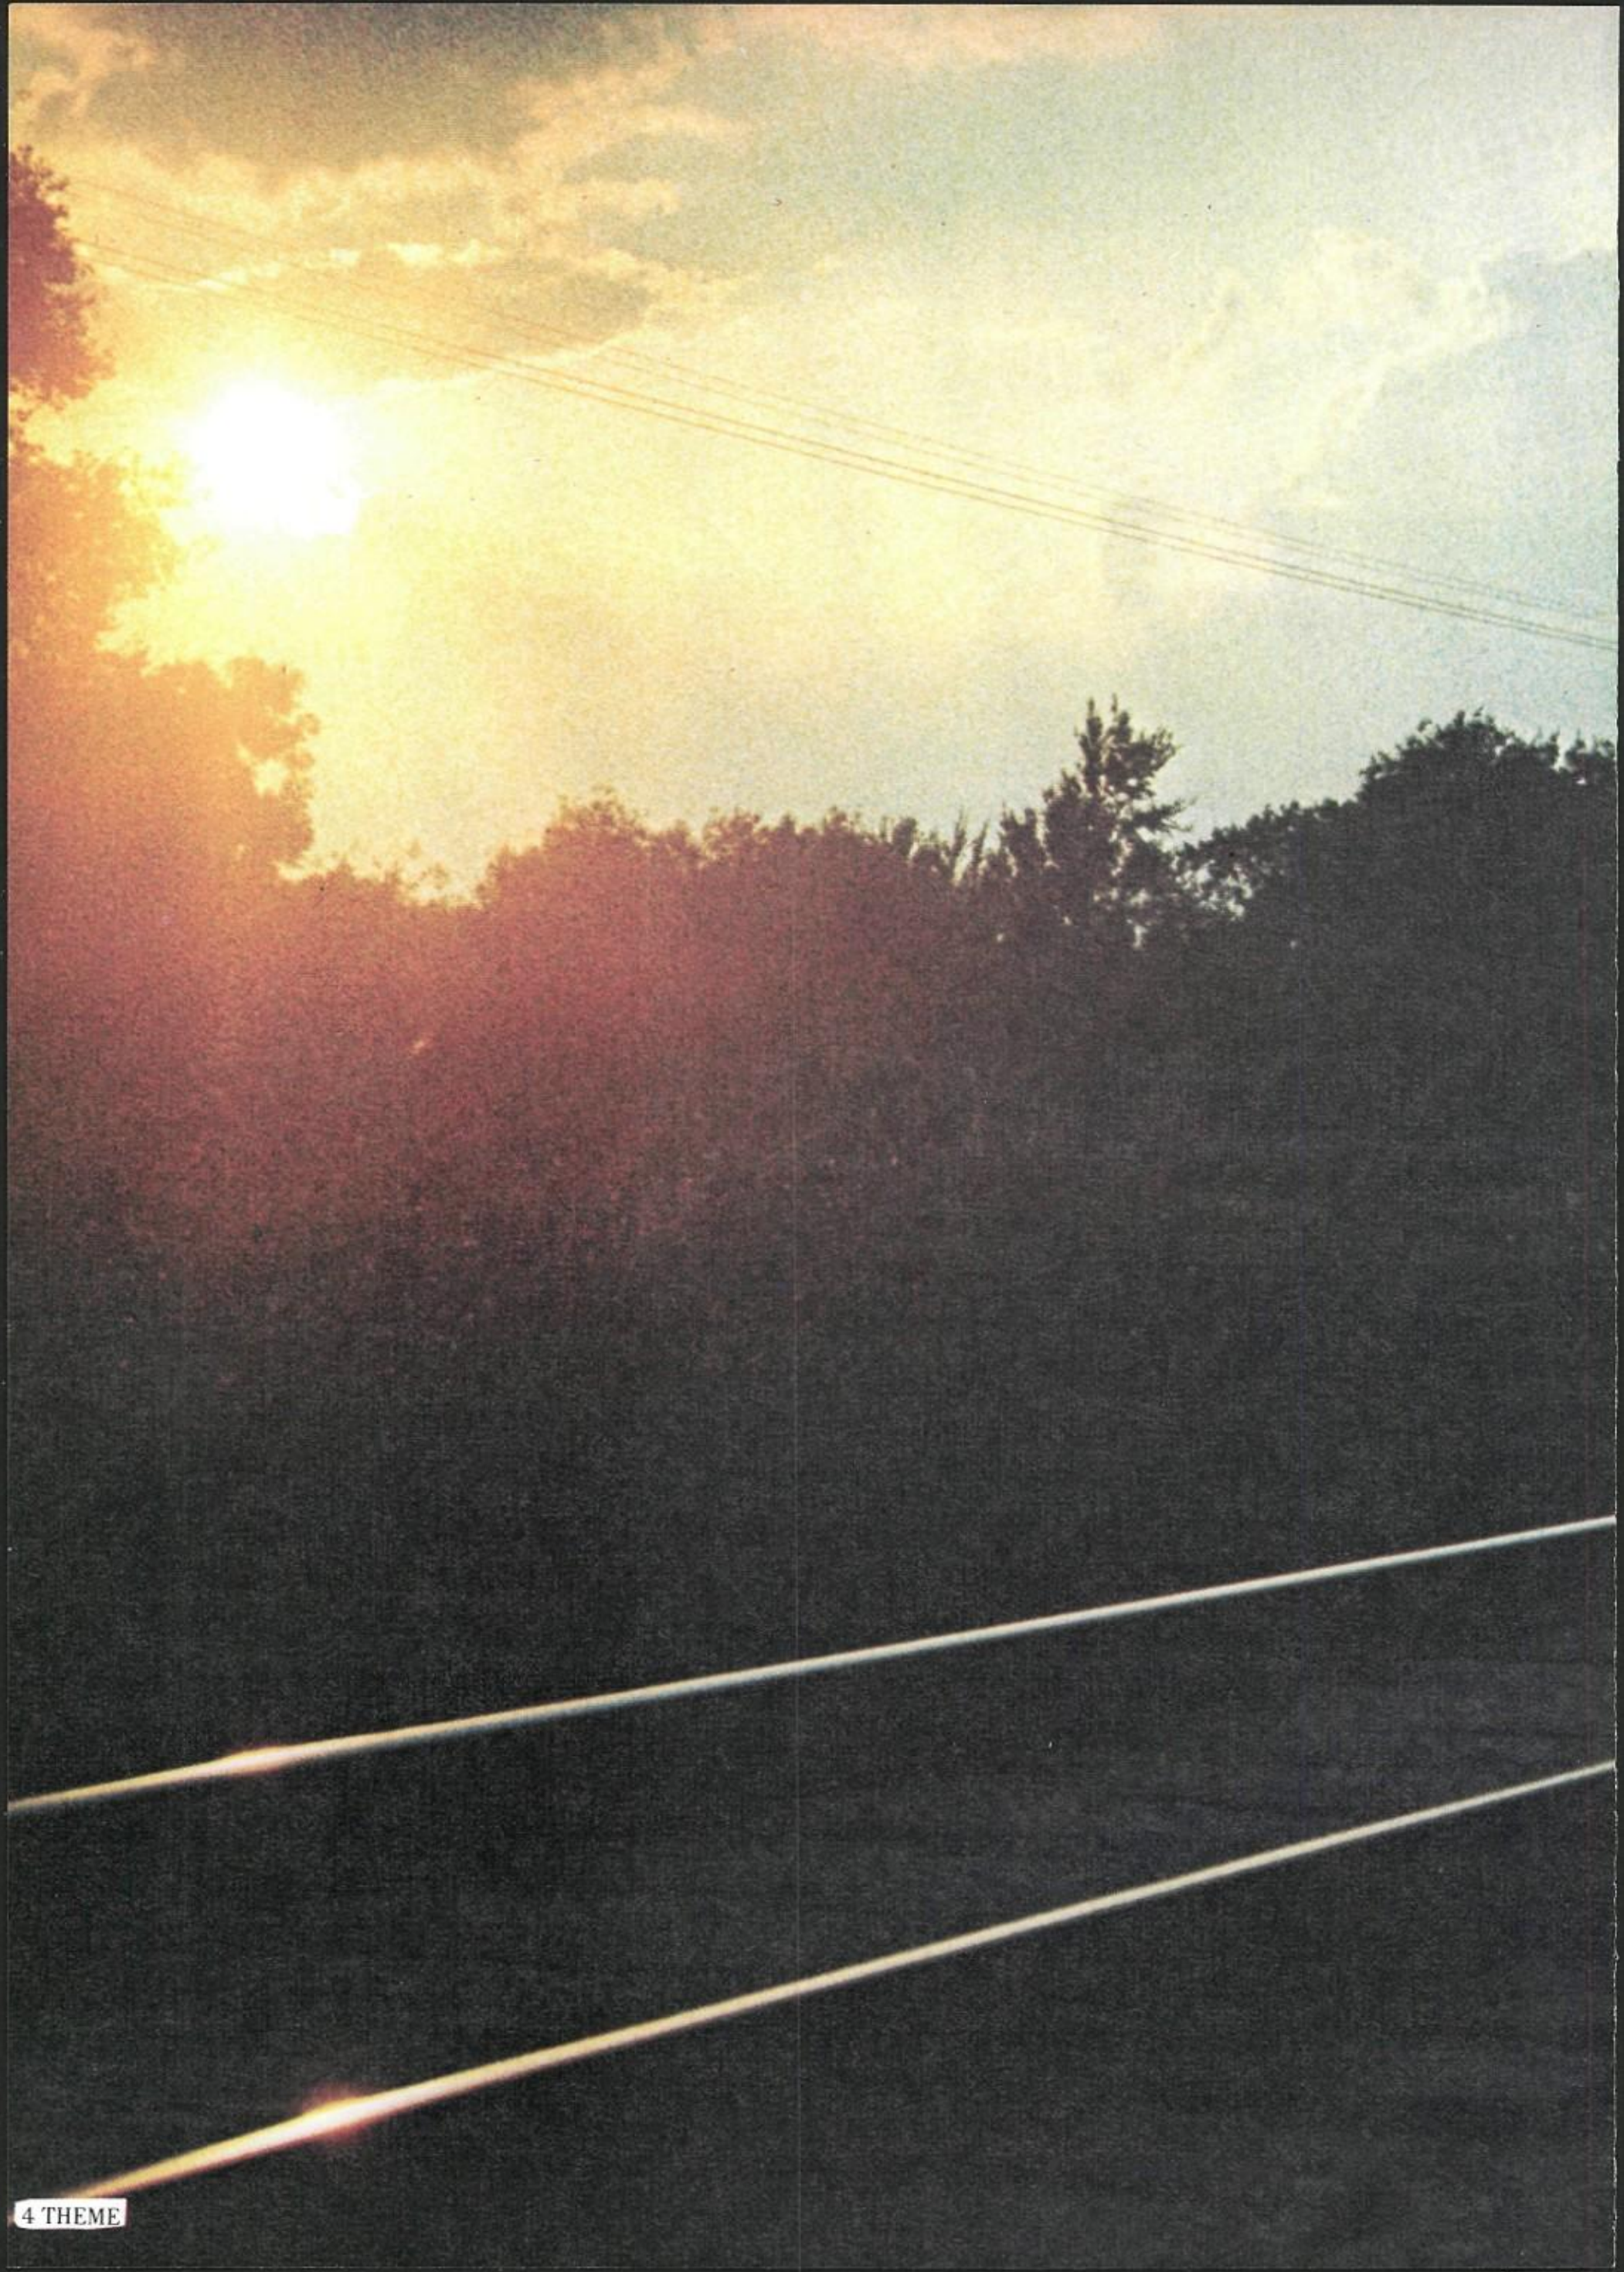
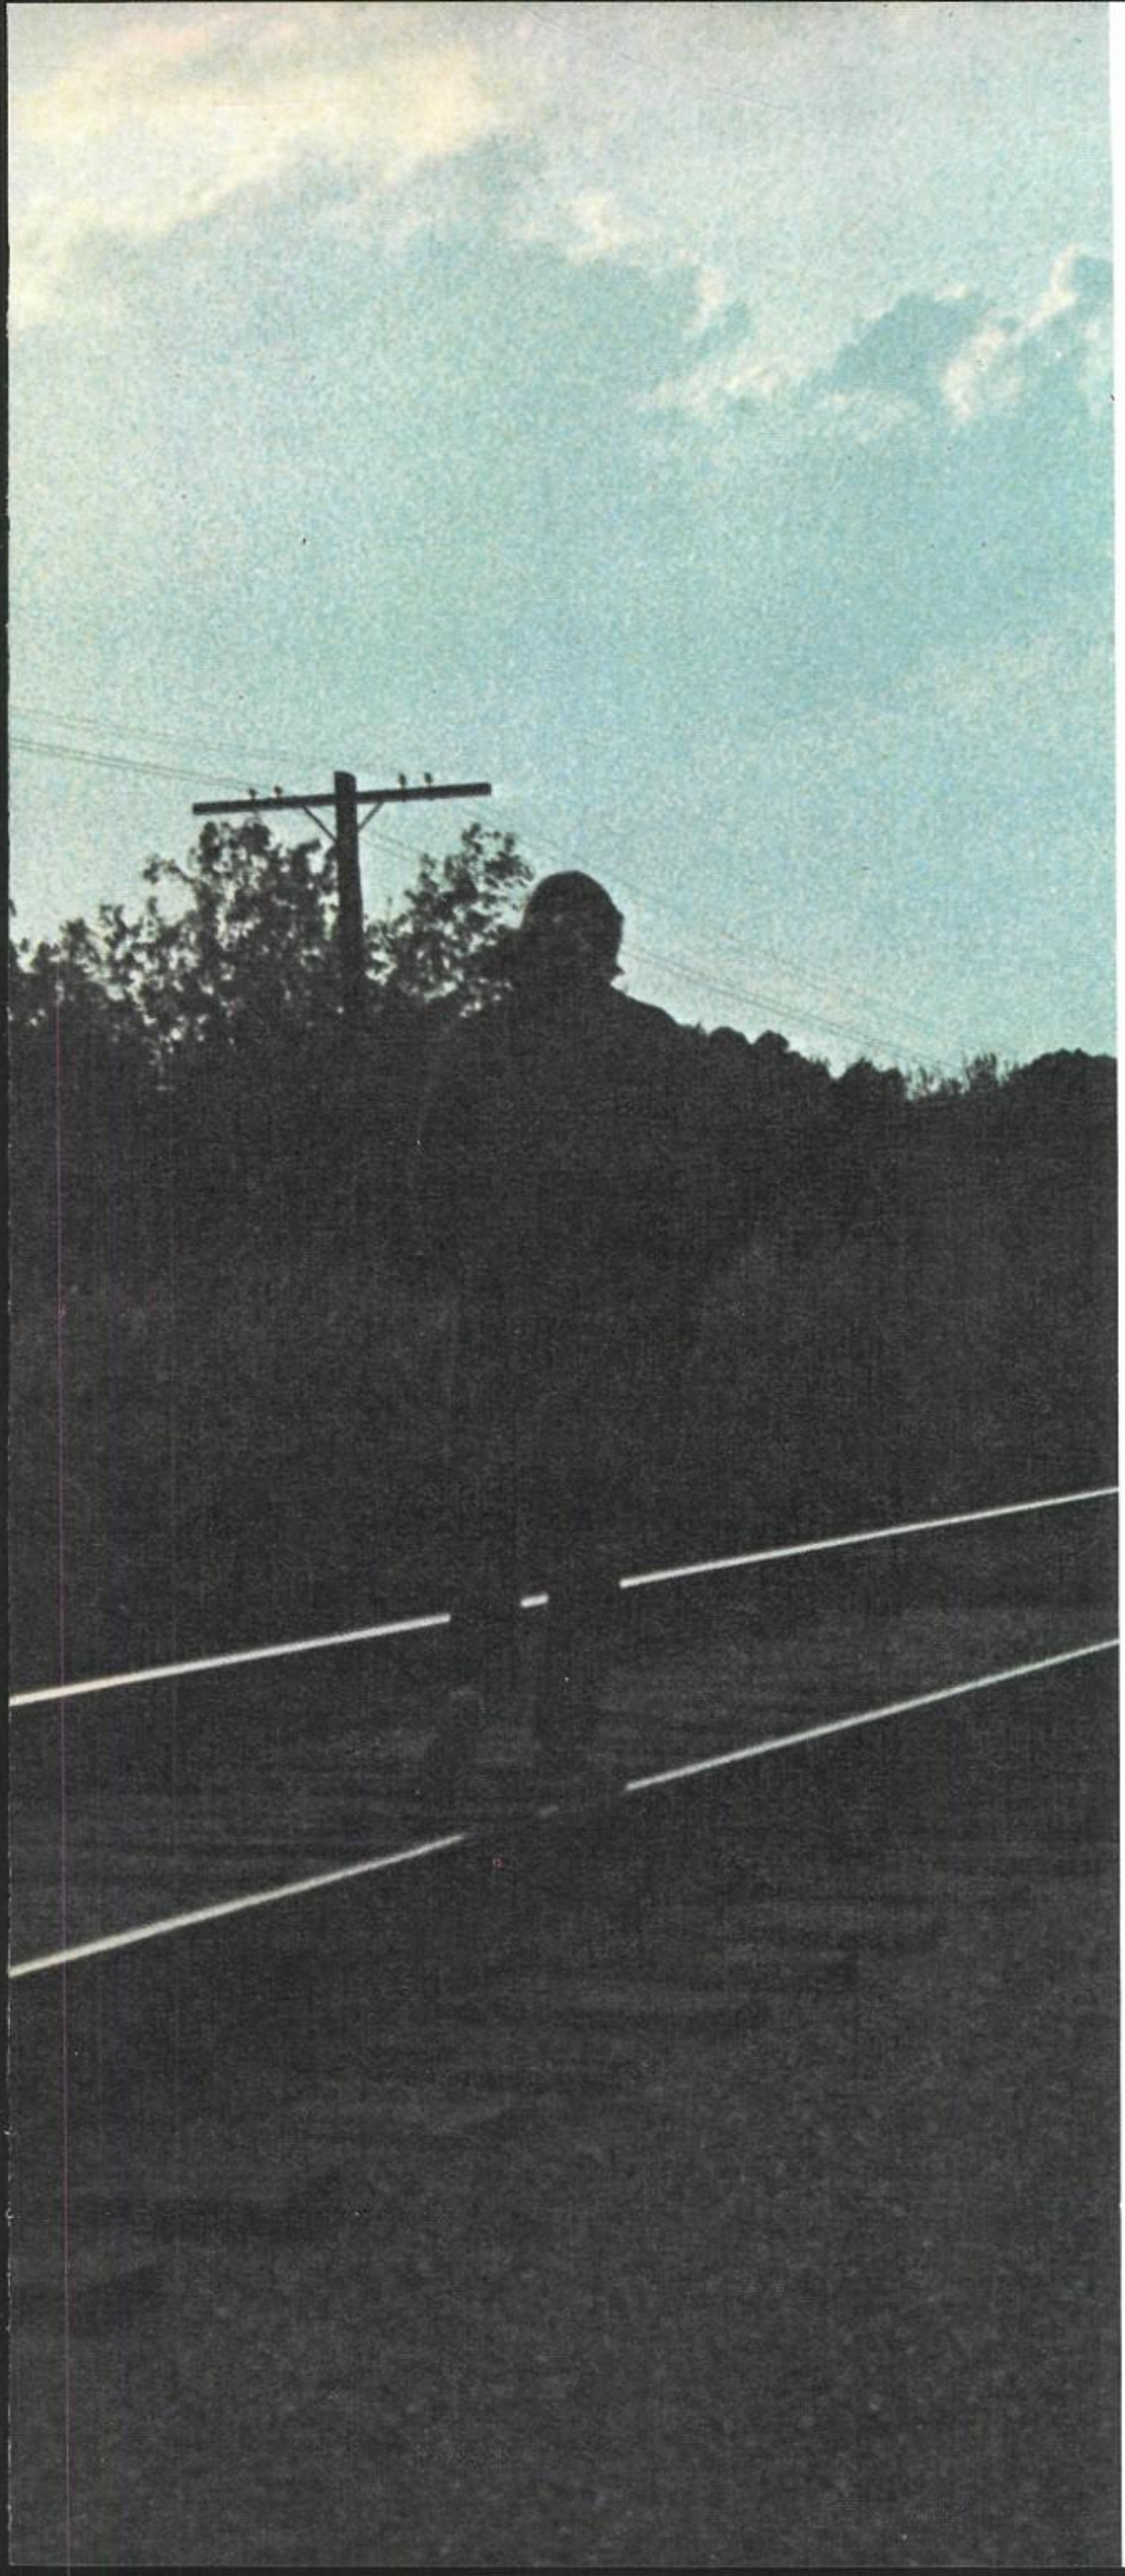
Cheryl,
It has really been great knowing you this year! I'm glad we got to be friends and I hope we become better friends next year! Stay sweet and cute and stay the same and you will go far!

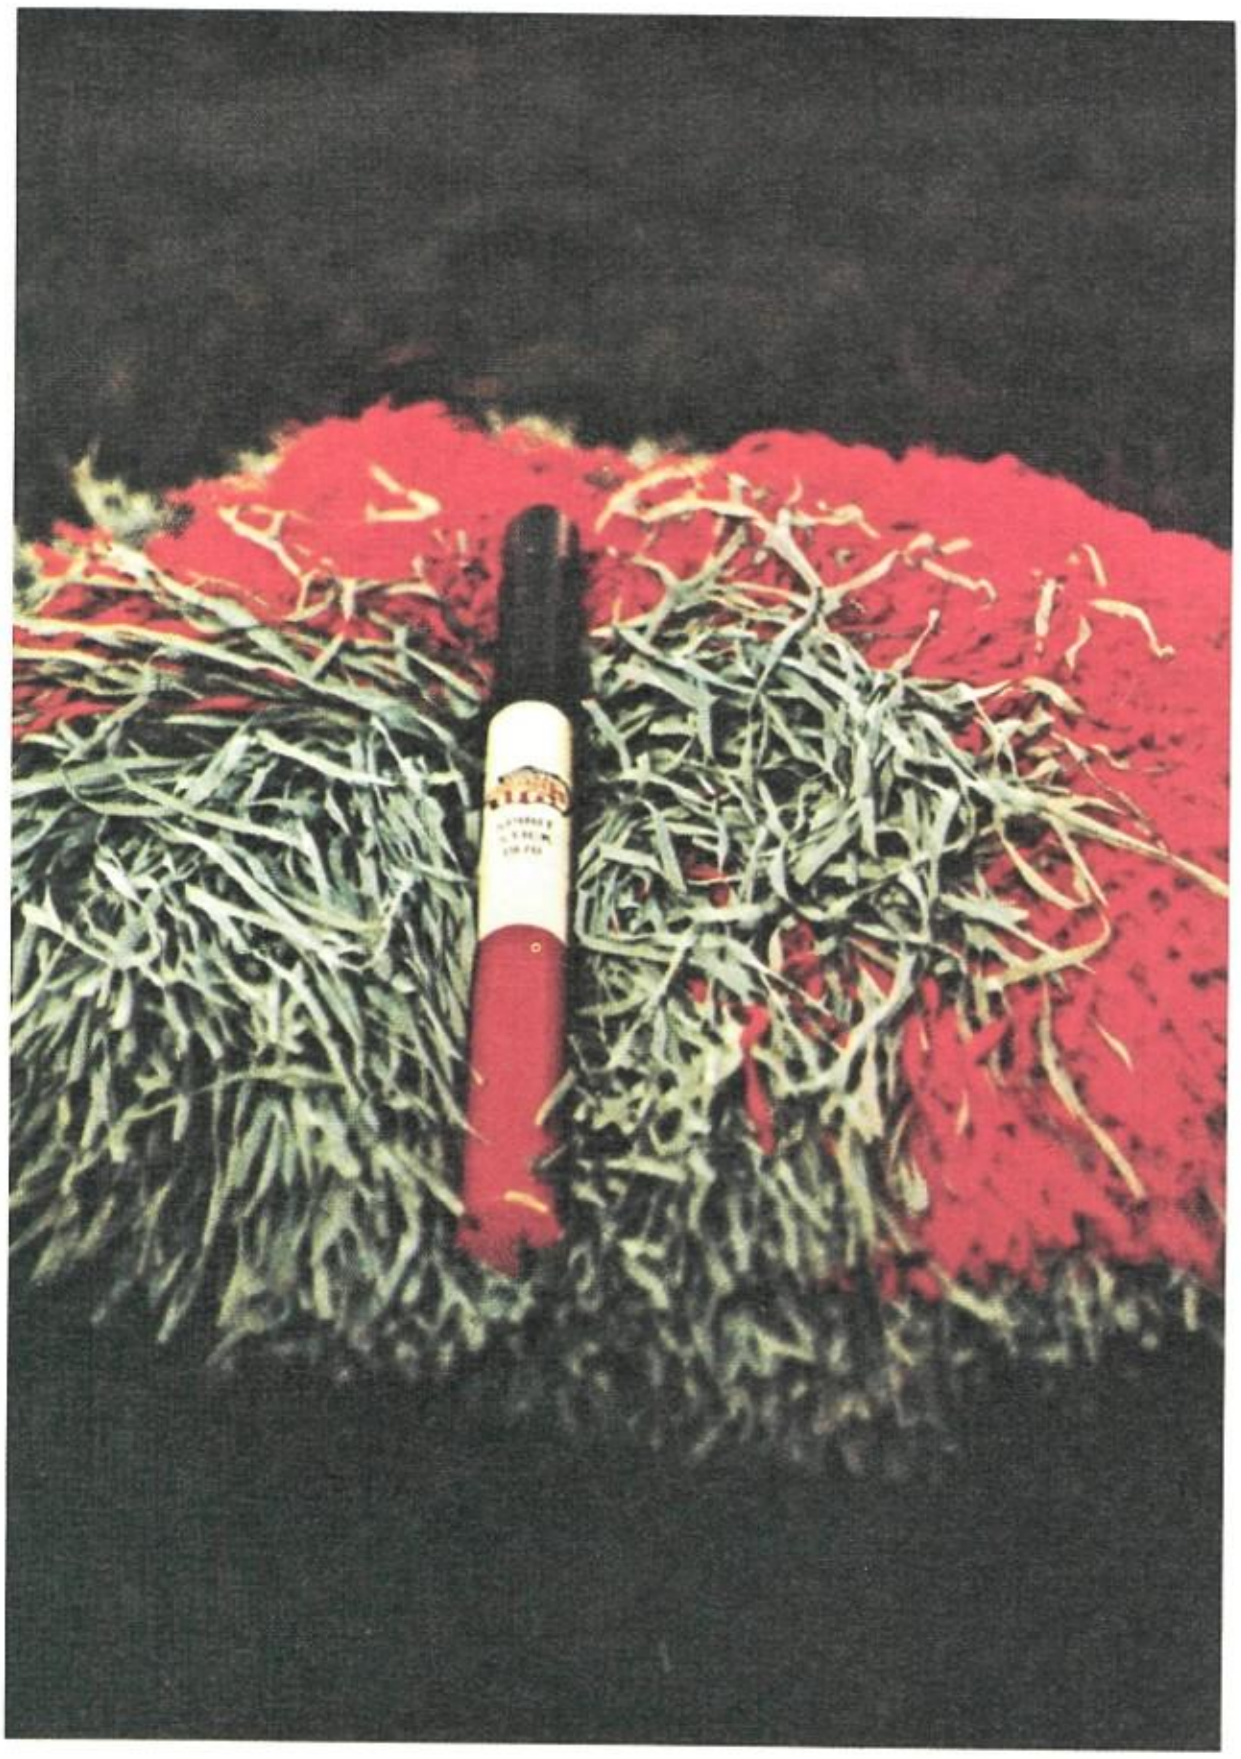
Love,
Barbara

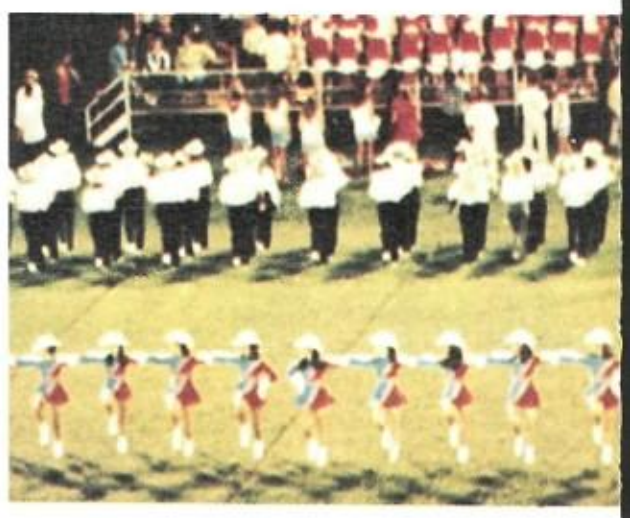


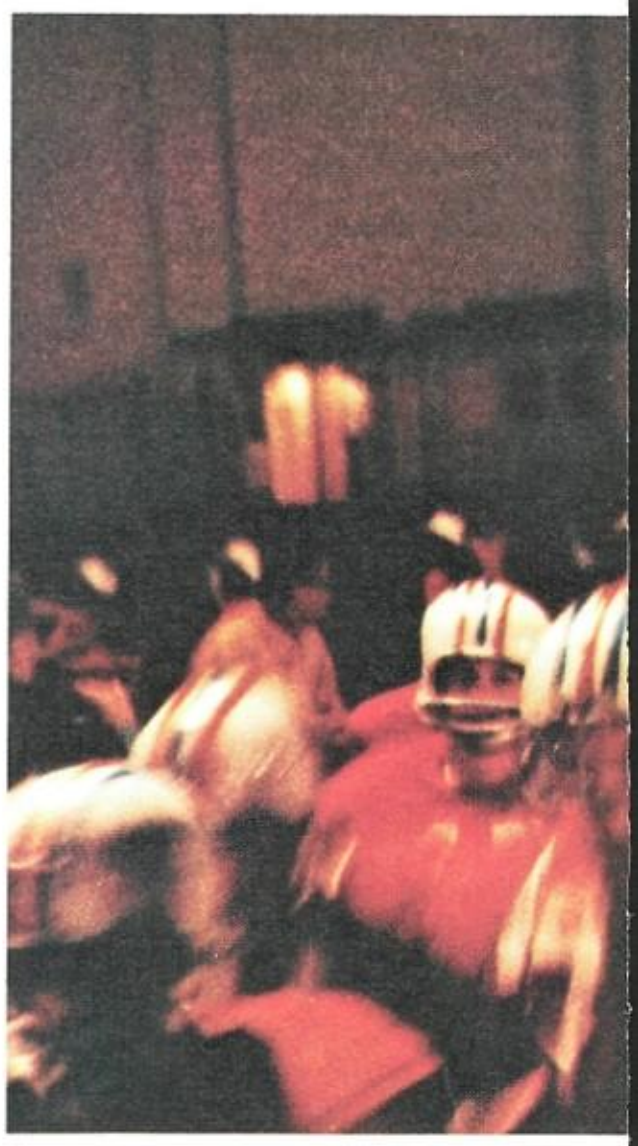


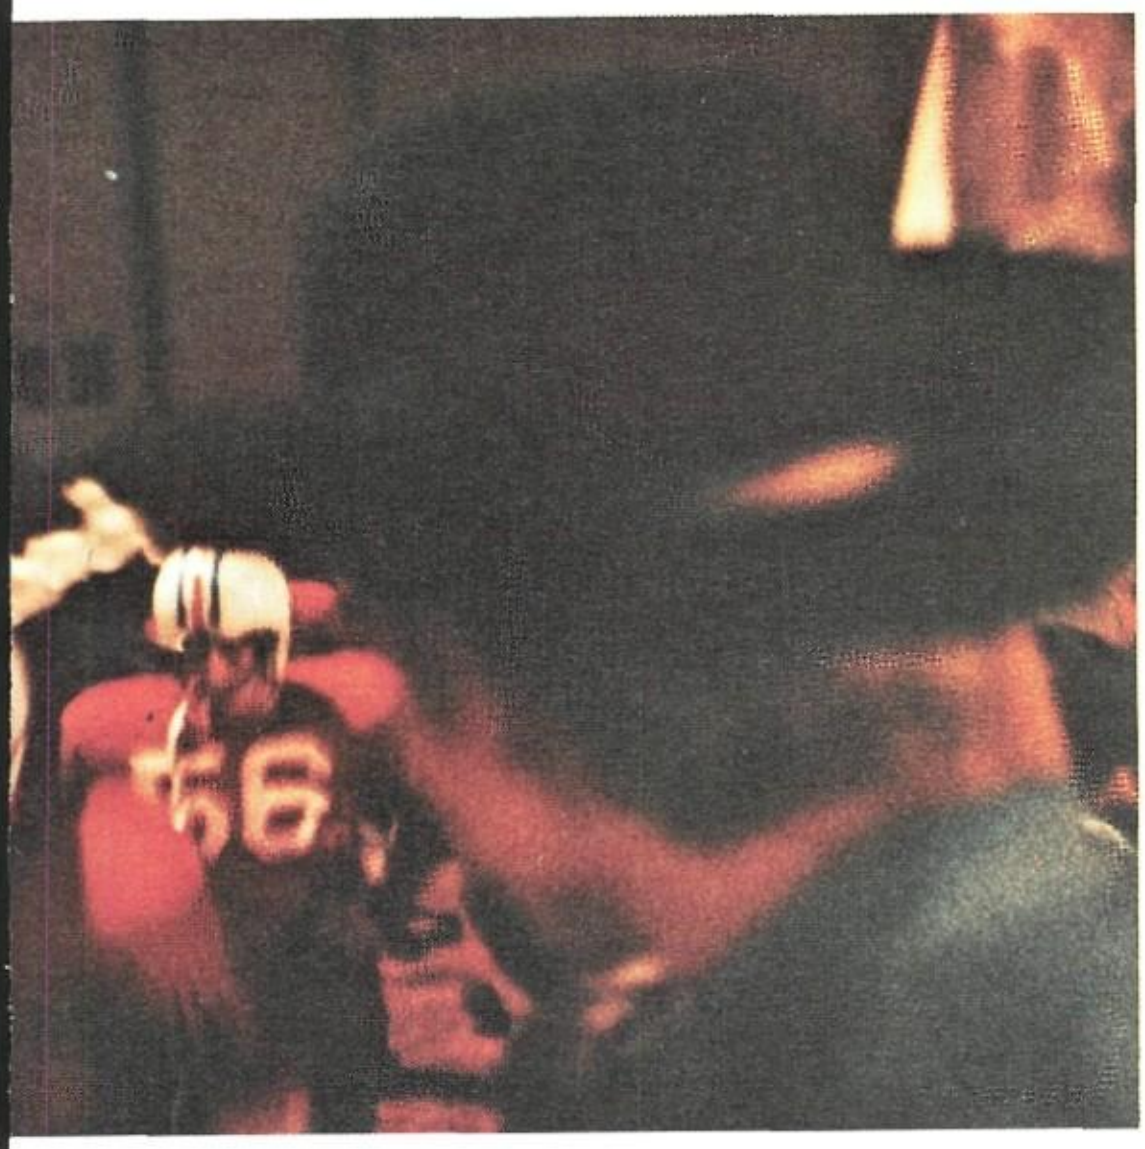
I watch others silently as days, weeks, years pass by; separated from them by my unique thoughts and experiences.

I see them in constant battles and campaigns, but do they know what they're fighting for?

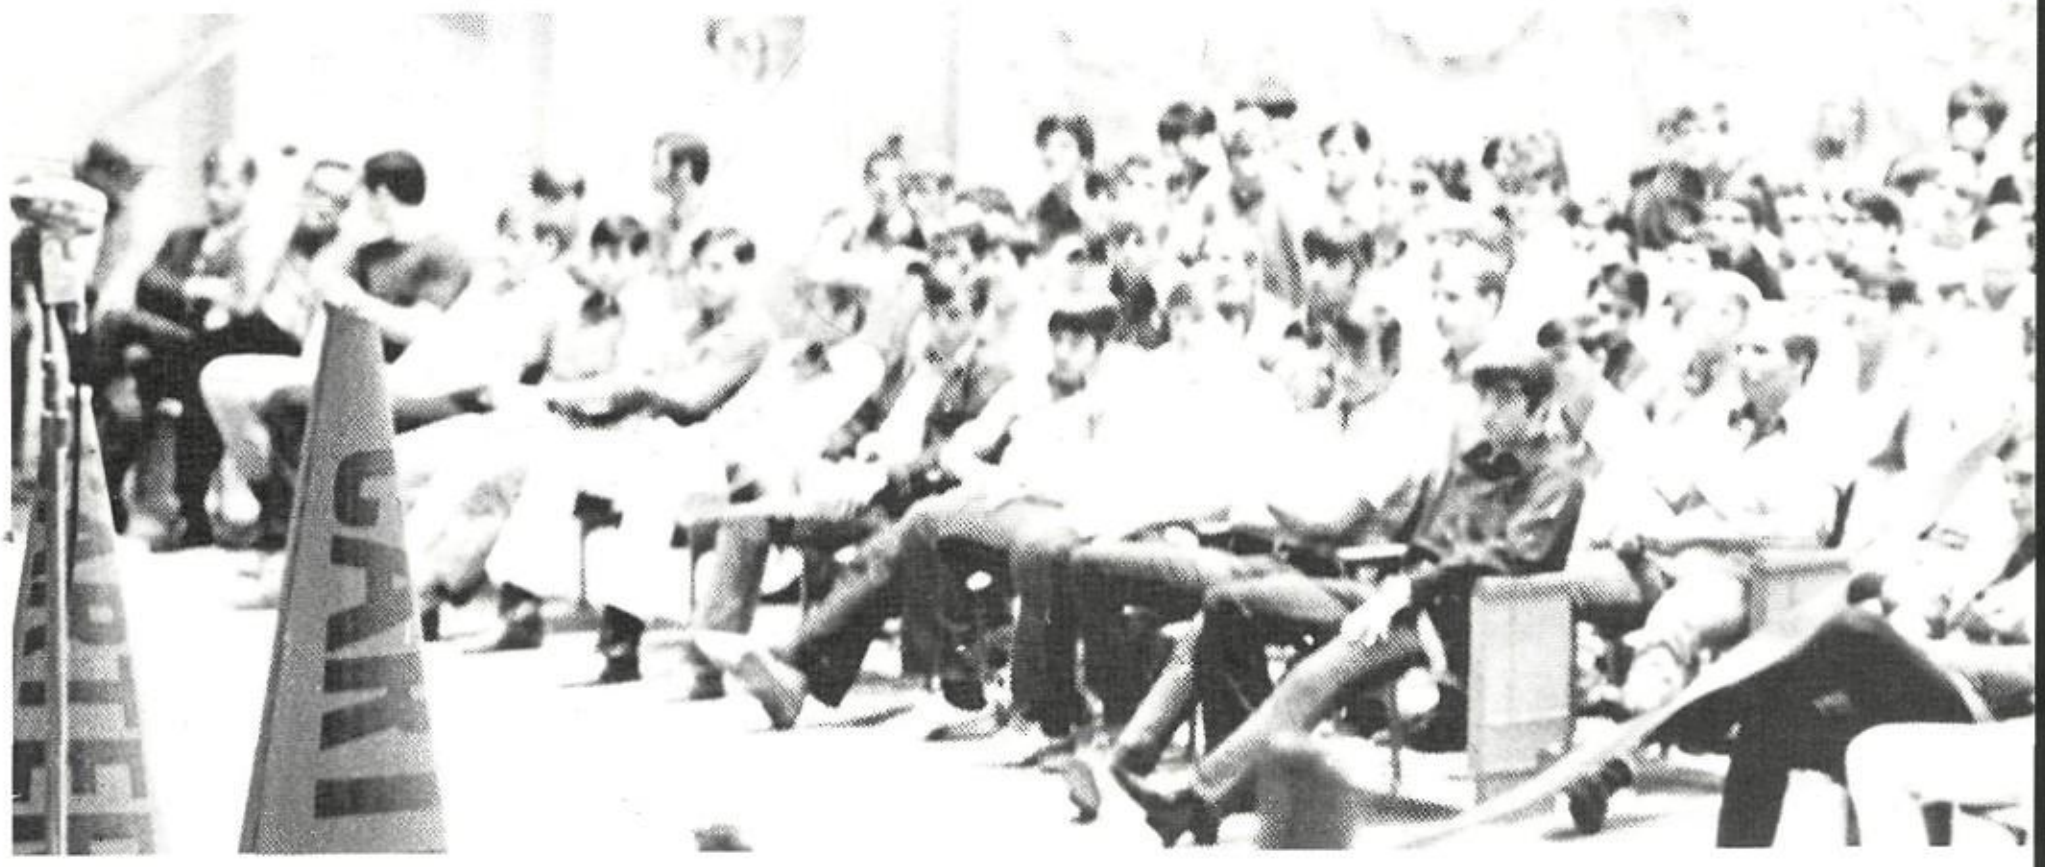


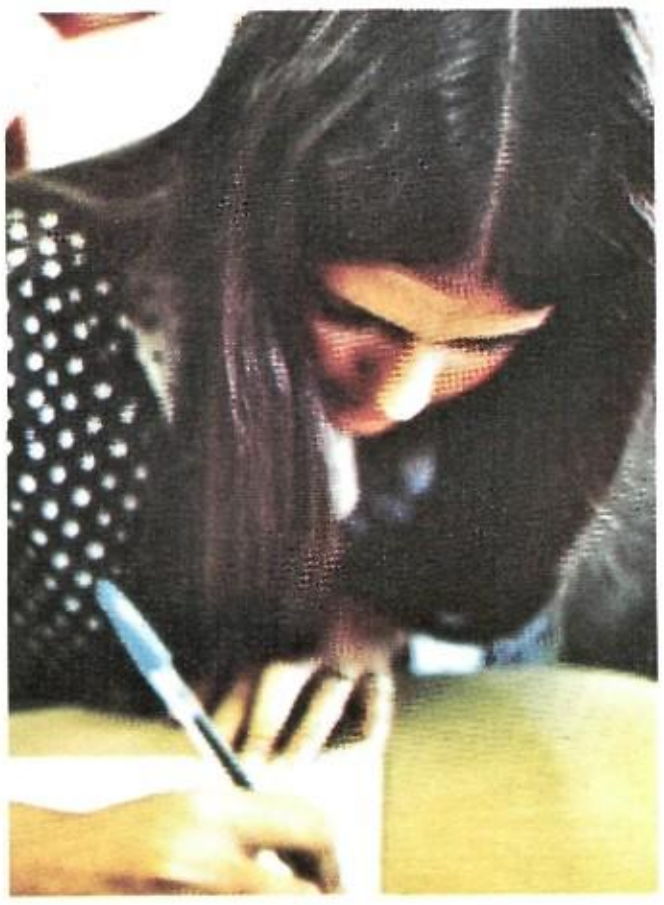






They come expecting to grow in wisdom as well as stature.





I wonder . . . will three short years prepare them?

In the sterile security of maze-like rooms and halls they grope and struggle.

They stare at empty pages, listen to hollow words and try to find themselves.

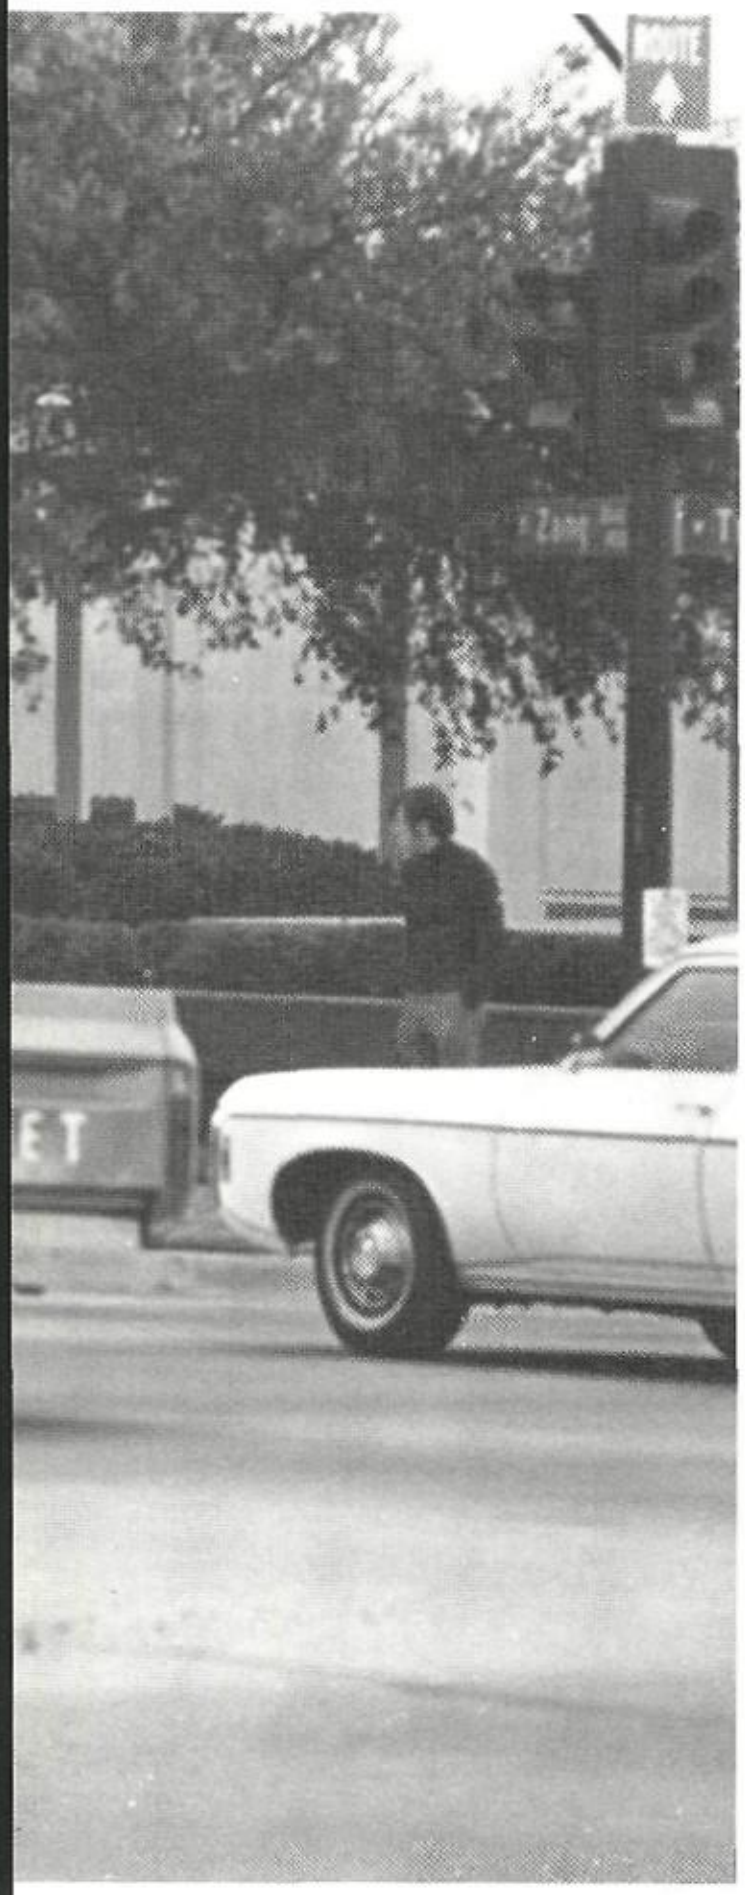
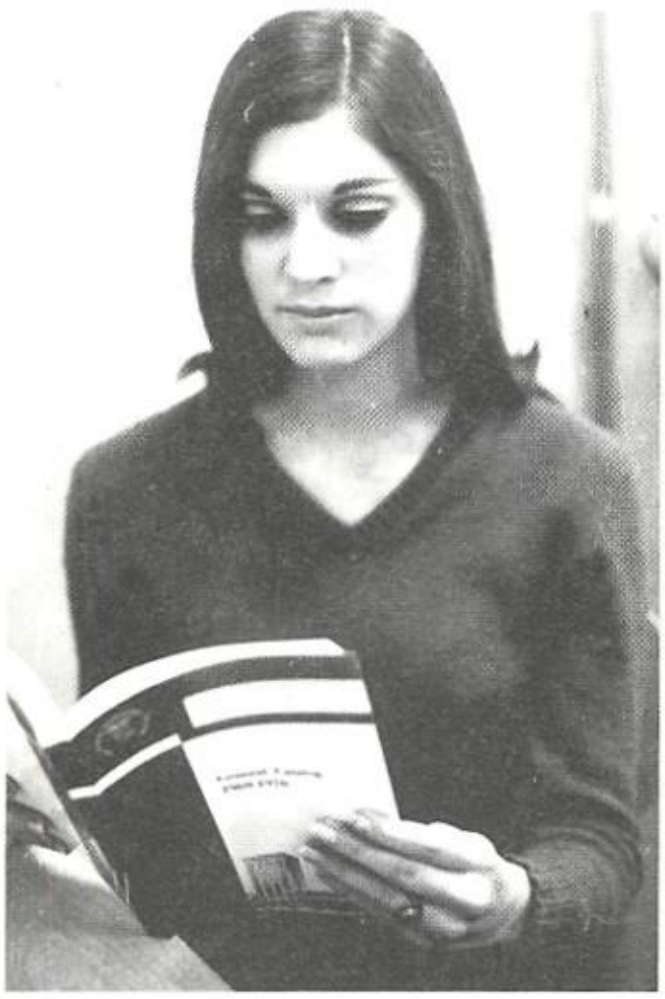
They sit in a vacuum and look out into the unfamiliar world.

They live and work, hear, speak, touch, see, and sense in their own little world of blackboards and textbooks.



Yet, in the back of their minds is the knowledge that someday, they too will be forced out into the world which they now only observe.



Life is waiting; waiting on the next page, around the corner, out the front door

Evelyn Beard, head of the art department of the Dallas schools.

Mr. Reid, head of school affairs.

THE DALLAS INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT BUILDING

D.I.S.D.

Visiting the Dallas Independent School District Adminstration Building gives one an opportunity to see how much time and work is involved in making it an important educational center.

We met many interesting people in positions of significance. Among them was Evelyn Beard, head of the art department of the Dallas Schools. In her office was a collection of outstanding art work by students representing all grade levels and schools. Mr. Reid deals with school affairs, discipline, drug abuse, and the newly formed LIFE Leadership Program. He stated that his main concern at present is vandalism, and he showed us the file of reports from the schools directing our attention to the fact that Carter had sixteen reports during the first three months of school. Larry Ascough, Asst. to the Superintendent of Communications, puts out the Board Report, which briefs our school district on Education Board activities.

These people are a part of the dedicated staff who help our school district meet the needs of individual students.

Board of Education

At a meeting of the Board of Education, one could observe the unity of its members and their dedication to the best interest of the Dallas schools. Among many of the items scheduled in the day's activities were the customary welcoming address, the induction of the newest board member, and the recognition of outstanding high school students. Last summer the board members worked toward many school reforms. Among these were the addition of subjects which would better meet individual needs, the teacher aid program, and the air-conditioning bond for Dallas schools.

Such accomplishments may seem to be insignificant, but after witnessing the board members in action it was apparent that a great deal of hard work goes into each educational improvement.

Mr. Harold Lichtenwald

Principal

Principal — Mr. Harold Lichtenwald

Mr. Harold Lichtenwald has been principal of Carter for five years. He was selected as the outstanding administrator of Dallas by the teachers of Dallas. He has also served on many committees such as the Drug Abuse Committee and the Control Modular Schedule Program.

Mr. Lichtenwald feels the job of a principal has changed throughout the years from the role of a disciplinarian, to an instructional leader, and now to a manager of conflicts. He was the head of a principal workshop in Lake Charles, Louisiana during the summer. This year, Mr. Lichtenwald does not handle as many administrative duties as he has before. He can spend this extra time to establish a more personal contact with the activities going on in our school.

Mr. Lichtenwald hopes that in the future Carter will have a self-paced program so that each student may progress on his level. Mr. Lichtenwald hopes to maintain a high morale between the students and staff through the administrative actions, and he thinks that everyone should strive for an enthusiastic spirit at Carter.

Mr. Lichtenwald takes time to explain procedural rules.

Visiting with students at the National Honor Society's tea provides one of the more relaxing moments.

Mr. Lichtenwald gives special recognition to Dr. David W. Carter, namesake of our school.

Mr. White looks over campus before leaving after a hard day's work.

Duties include discussing campus problems with students.

Assistant Principal Mr. Lloyd White

Mr. White is one of the most instrumental persons of our school. He employs his efforts of understanding to reach the main goal he has for Carter. Which is to establish "an atmosphere created by the faculty and students that promotes a feeling of belonging and worth in each person at Carter."

The total employment at Carter is very important, but as Mr. White sees it, the student body is our greatest asset for the future.

While his duties as an assistant principal include setting calendar dates, presiding over the various assemblies, and coordinating all activities and policies, he feels his main duty is to bridge the gap between the administration and the student body.

Mr. White gives our daily announcements.

Librarians begin media program

Under the leadership of a new librarian, Jacel Burks, great strides have been taken to orientate and encourage students to use materials in the library.

Projecting into the future, Mrs. Burks sees a number of changes that will be of benefit to students and faculty. The library is moving into an expanded program for providing materials for instructional learning, which is called the "media" program. Two types of media, instructional and learning, will be available. Materials which are to be used in the classroom will be stored in a resource center for teachers. Other media will be available in the open area for pupils to use independently.

The area of the media program will be both the library and study halls. One study hall may be used for video aids which a clerk will issue to teachers and students.

The other may be a quiet study area possibly equipped with couches, round tables, and individual study booths called "carrels." Materials in this room will be limited since it is strictly for those who wish to study quietly alone. The library will then be for research only.

Special Education increases opportunities.

Reading development, writing practice, and exercises in creative expression are the fundamental educational skills provided in the special education class under the guidance of Mrs. Anne Miller. These students obtain a complete curriculum in one class and receive the special attention needed to increase their opportunities for later vocational training.

Satire in Alice in Wonderland

Thesis: Lewis Carroll takes a satirical look at the world through the eyes of a child in Alice in Wonderland.

An important aspect to take into consideration in Alice in Wonderland is Carroll's analysis of education. Much of the story deals with Alice's adventures in an educational experience and "the reaction of the immature mind to academic training." Alice's first experience with Wonderland comes in the form of falling down a hole, which is lined with bookshelves, maps, and charts. The hole is suggestive of education.2

Immediately book rules begin to take the place of reason.3 Alice reasons on the premise of what she has learned in school, not what her mind tells her is logical.

Other examples of educational satire can be found throughout Alice in Wonderland. The mouse states he will speak on the driest topic he knows, namely, English History. He then proceeds to a lecture on William the Conqueror.4

Languages encourage fluency, interpretation

"Auf Deutsh naturlich in die Stalag!" Speaking in a foreign language is not only a matter of translation. To be truly fluent, a student must learn to think in he language as well. Carter's language department attempts to help the student in this by using such aids as tapes, films, flash cards, and classroom conversations. Custon s, geography and culture are also included in the curriculum of many of the second an· thi d year classes.

Mr. Bush has to answer many complicated questions over chemistry; even when there really isn't an answer.

Purpose: to develop in students the basic understanding of scientific datum, theories, procedures, and experimentation.

Hypothesis: It is expected that a number of students will show interest in all courses of study. Others, however, will probably enjoy a concentration in either experimentation or lectures depending on the capability of the individual. Teachers may suffer emotionally from the effects of novice experimentors in lab.

Materials: Teachers actively interested, enthusiastic and capable of causing students to share and adapt these attitudes.

Students interested in furthering their concepts of the scientific field as well as in actively participating in all experimental and research endeavors.

Lab equipment sufficient for interesting and informative lab experimentation and demonstration.

Special equipment: supplied by individual students of courses as described.

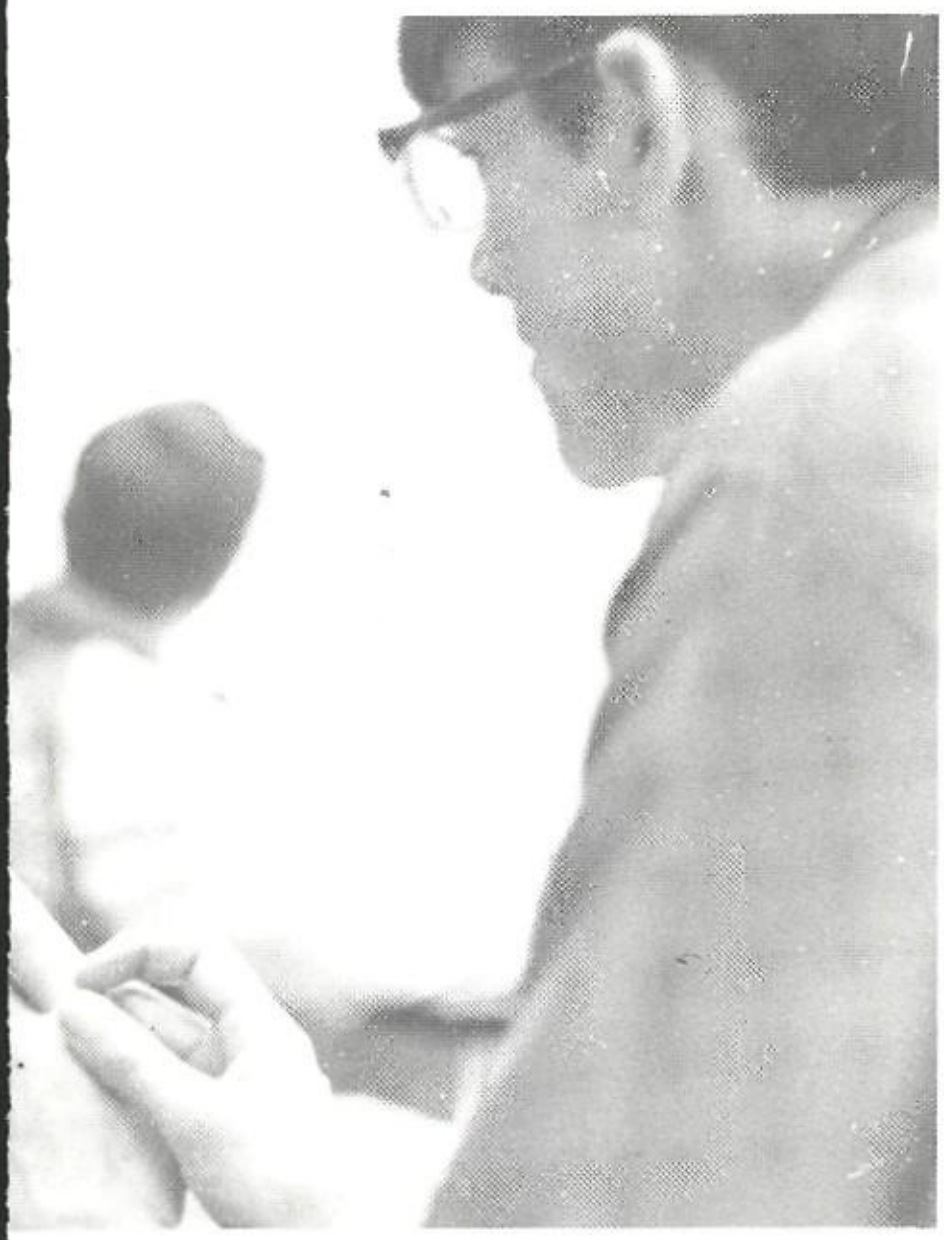
Chemistry: excellent memory for element symbols and chemical equations.

Physics: super sense of logic, coupled with mathematical genius.

Biology: Strong stomach necessary for taking part in labs.

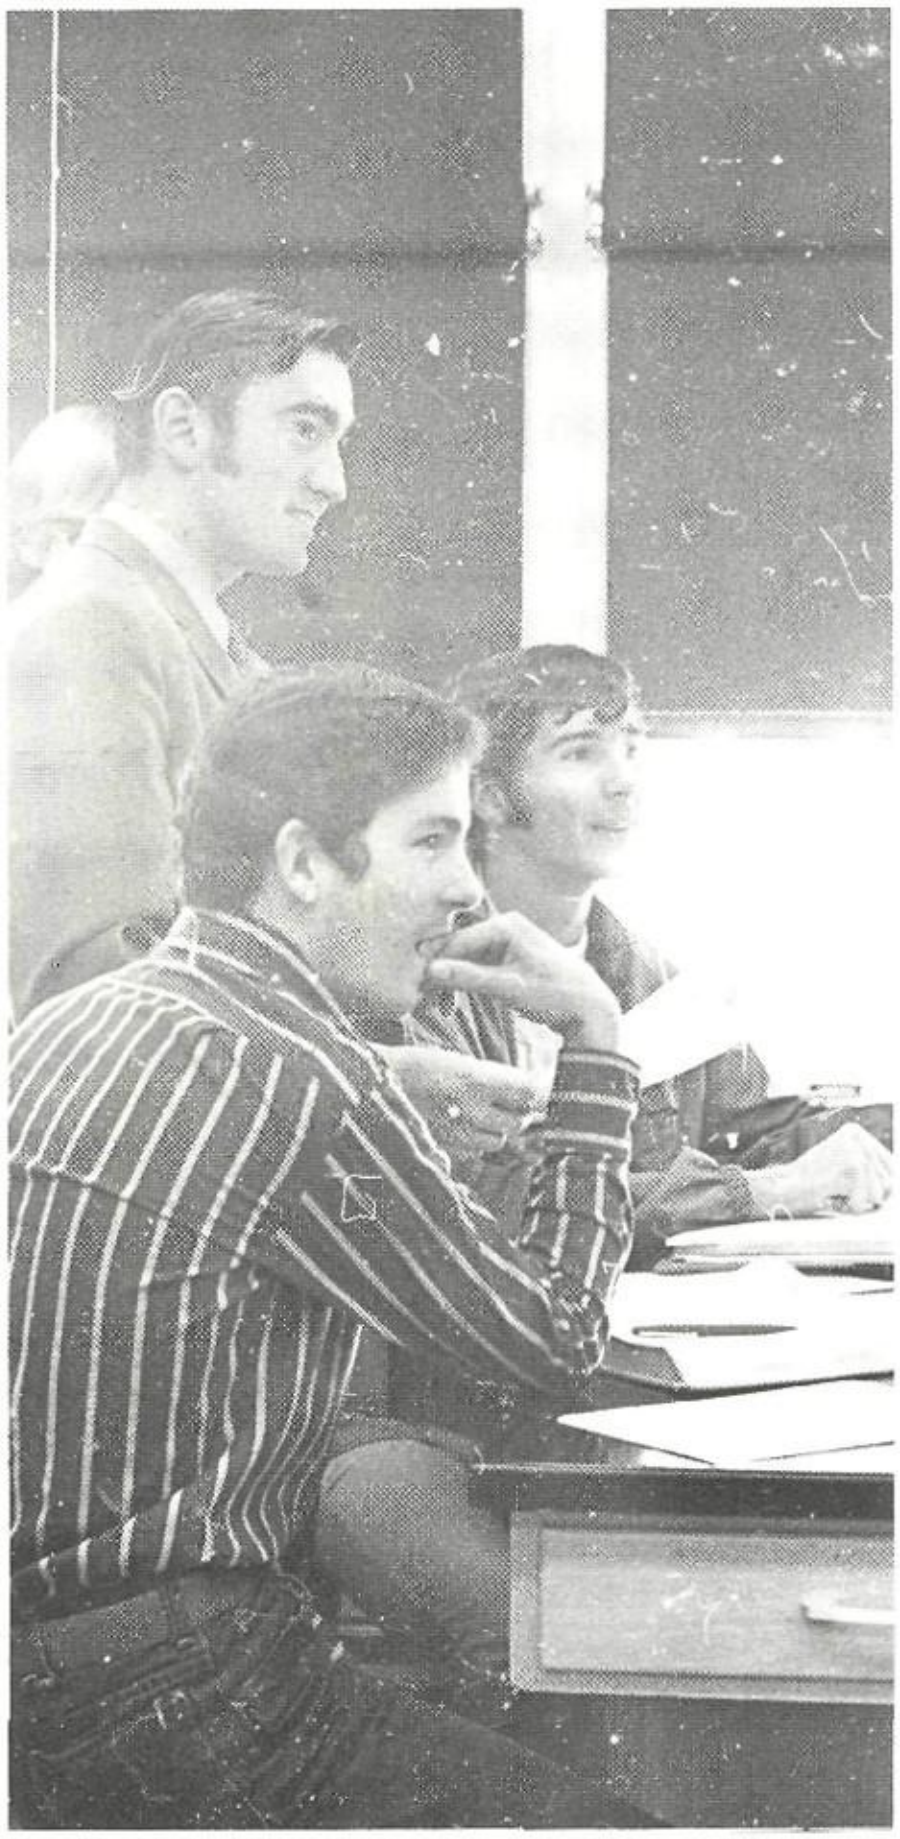
Procedure: Taking all ingredients, mix with the following:

1 part written theory
1 part research and experimentation
2 parts student cooperation, interest and self-discipline.
1 part teacher ability to maintain and control class interest.



Results: Hypothesis proven correct.

Conclusion: Of the ingredients used, it can be concluded that the most necessary are the 2 parts student cooperation, self-discipline and interest. Where ommitted, the procedure failed to accomplish the desired results.



Even Mr. Bush thinks what is going on at the front of the room is more interesting than a chemistry question.

MAJOR DAILY POP TEST QUIZ

Please work out the following problem, showing all your work on paper; after you have completed the test, (if you do) turn in your paper. Fold it twice vertically and three times horizontally. Write in Greek the first three letters of your name along with your age, rank, and locker number. If you have any questions, ask them. Silence means you understand.

(1) Given five overhead projectors, transparencies, and colored pencils, one blackboard protractor in room 119, 12 blackboards, a computer, and five math teachers, solve the following equation.

If (xy/2m) (opq-3cmd) /592.030 is equal to Excedrin Headache #2015987334210001275 6½, providing that if Mr. Miller is a farmer, and Mr. Baker, his brother-in-law, is a miller, then Mrs. Jones cannot be a widow, find the value of z in the equation.

Hint: Include in your calculations one lecture on teenage marriages, one red-headed tantrum thrower, proofs worked on the board, and happiness over a score of 42 on a Trig test (the average was 22).

The technical skills that are associated with the business world such as bookkeeping, shorthand, business math, and typing, are considered some of the most beneficial subjects students may take at Carter.

Classes work toward improvement on speed and accuracy which will aid them as future business personnel. Students who are consistent in the application of these abilities will develop helpful tools of efficiency and organization.

Students plan, prepare for careers

Carter offers three courses designed for students who wish to further their understanding of the career they plan to pursue. Included in the programs are Distributive Education, Industrial Cooperative Training and Teacher's Aid Cooperative Training. Students spend three class periods in class and the rest of the day off campus in on the job training.

"Good afternoon sports fans, and welcome to another annual meet between the gym classes of D.W.C. High School. This meet will include contests between the boys and girls in sports such as basketball, soccer, volleyball, and football, which they have diligently practiced this past year. Incidentally, the girls have been chosen to play "skins."

In addition to these events, there are some specially devised games, including an exciting race through the mazes of the girls' locker room. Another game is included in which the boys will attempt to steal the girls' towels.

Two wrestling matches between the boys of D.W.C. and Hulcy for the gym equipment and between the girls of the two schools for the mirrors are also planned.

The R.O.T.C. will referee the entire event due to their faithful service as hall and flag patrols. Prize will be given for all of the contests as well as one for the boy possessing the cleanest gym socks.

Each year, as is customary at Carter, a turnabout dance is given, sponsored by the Junior Class. Girls have a chance to ask the boys out, but they must also open doors, act as a chauffeur, entertain at the dance, treat them to any refreshments, and be sure to get the boys home before their curfew!

The costumes worn by couples are strictly "Li'l Abner," and decorations are done in a gingham checked, home-grown motif. This year, the Mint are providing the music and the highlight of the evening is the contest for the most original costume.

Lily and a friend wait for the dance to begin.

Final preparations are made before all the "Daisy Maes" and "Li'l Abners" arrive at the dance.

"Oh, what a beautiful morning" sets the scene for "Oklahoma!," this year's musical produced by the music, drama, and art departments. Expensive sound equipment will enable the audience to capture the full effect of the solos as well as the rousing group scenes. Colorful costumes and lively dancers add to the quality performances of: Laurie — Debbie Burgoon, Curly — Charles Lee, Will — David Weaver, Judd — Mark Miller, and Ali Hikkim — David Gutirrez. Rodgers and Hammersteins "Oklahoma!" is a lighthearted, entertaining experience for Carter audiences this spring.

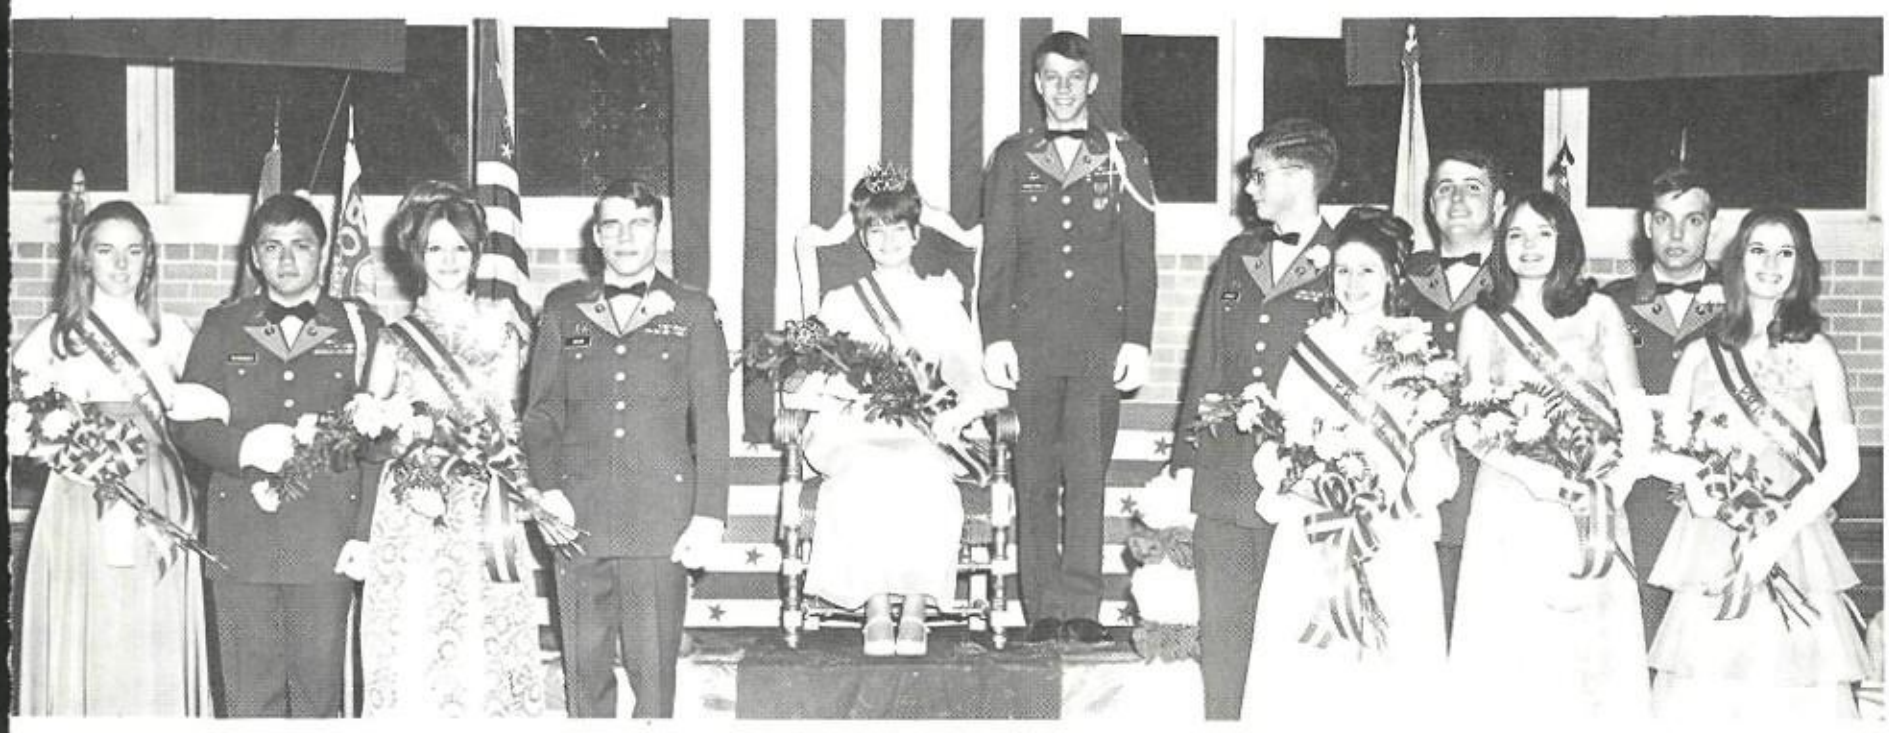
Sweethearts and Cadettes line up in Grand March formation.

1971 Military Ball

Debbie Shackleford is crowned "R.O.T.C. Military Ball Queen."

Moments of silent thought are present . . .



1970-71 Corp Sweethearts: Cheri Montgomery, Cindy Bilz, Peggy Prewitt, Pam Godfrey, Debbie Shackleford, Karol Carpenter, Debbie Baker, and Vicky Glass.

The 4th Annual Military Ball of the Carter R.O.T.C. Battalion, was held on March 19, in the girls gym. The military ball is a pageant combined with dancing and the dress is formal.

The highlight of the evening is the announcement of the Queen of the Military Ball, who is chosen from the Corps Sweethearts. As another Carter first, this year the R.O.T.C. selected a Cadette Princess. When the Queen is selected, the Grand March, in which the queen and her court are escorted by the Battalion Officers around the ballroom, begins. Following the march, the queen and the Battlion Commander lead the first dance.

Miss Helen Allen, sister of Corp member Jimmy Allen, was the guest singer for the event.

Sweethearts may sometimes forget their composure.

The Herd strikes up the music as couples sway on the dance floor.

Steve Kelley and Debbie Baker enjoy the evening.

Cadets honor Sweethearts at R.O.T.C. Ball

Richard Croy accepts the "Outstanding Company" award for his "B" Company.

Corps Sweethearts are escorted by Cadettes during the Grand March.

The most important military inspection of the year is the federal inspection in the spring.

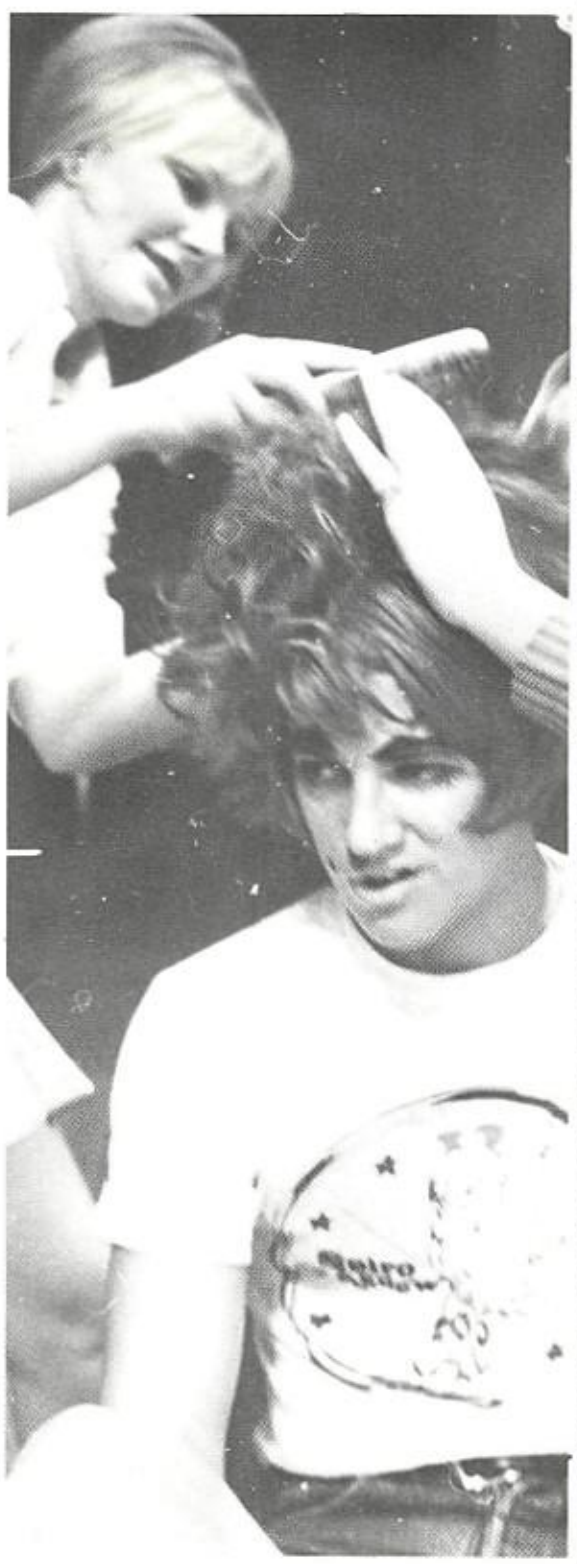
Wendy Woodall is presented with roses and the title "Miss Carter R.O.T.C."

Students have a variety of activities 'After Hours'

What you do in your spare time is your business.

Masked Massengill investigates the Mystery of the Midnight Maid.

So much for a White Christmas this year!!!



Broadway here I come.

The new Polk-Camp Wisdom Branch provides D.W.C. students with a retreat from screaming kids and noisy study halls.

Carter cheerleaders perform final football cheer to empty stands.

Cathey and Lynne discuss the in Jennie will never find her folder in the "Book eating annual room."

Mr. Vavroch serves as sounding board for the dozen daily difficulties.

Staff members experience deadline desperation as they grope through layouts, photos, copy . . . to complete shipment.

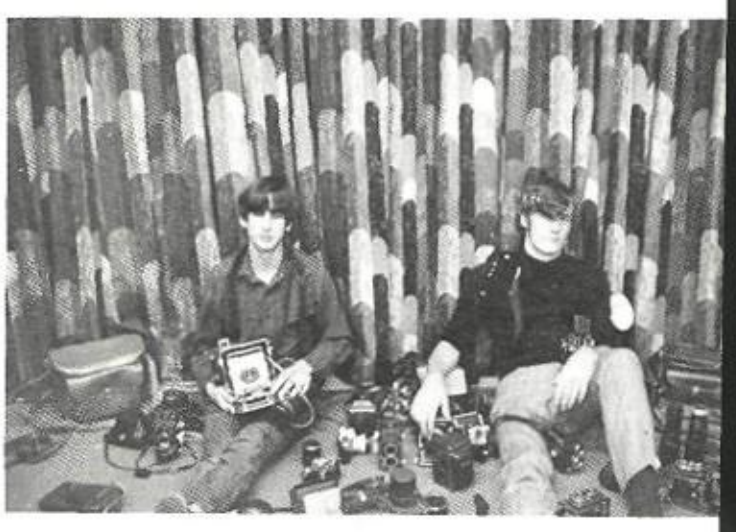
Task force Trio struggles to complete humongous organizations section.

Pictures and copy are not the only ingredients necessary for a successful yearbook. The fifteen staff members of the Round-Up put in not only the hour they spend in class, but many hours out of class working on layouts, budgets, page assignments, pictures and the components that go into the book.

Although staff members receive no credit for the hour spent in class, they do benefit from exposure to the procedures and principals of publishing and printing a legitimate publication. Especially enlightening are the days before a deadline when pressure is increased due to the rush to get all pages ready for shipment.

This year, the staff has a new advisor, Mr. John Vavroch, who is of vital importance to editors and staff members.

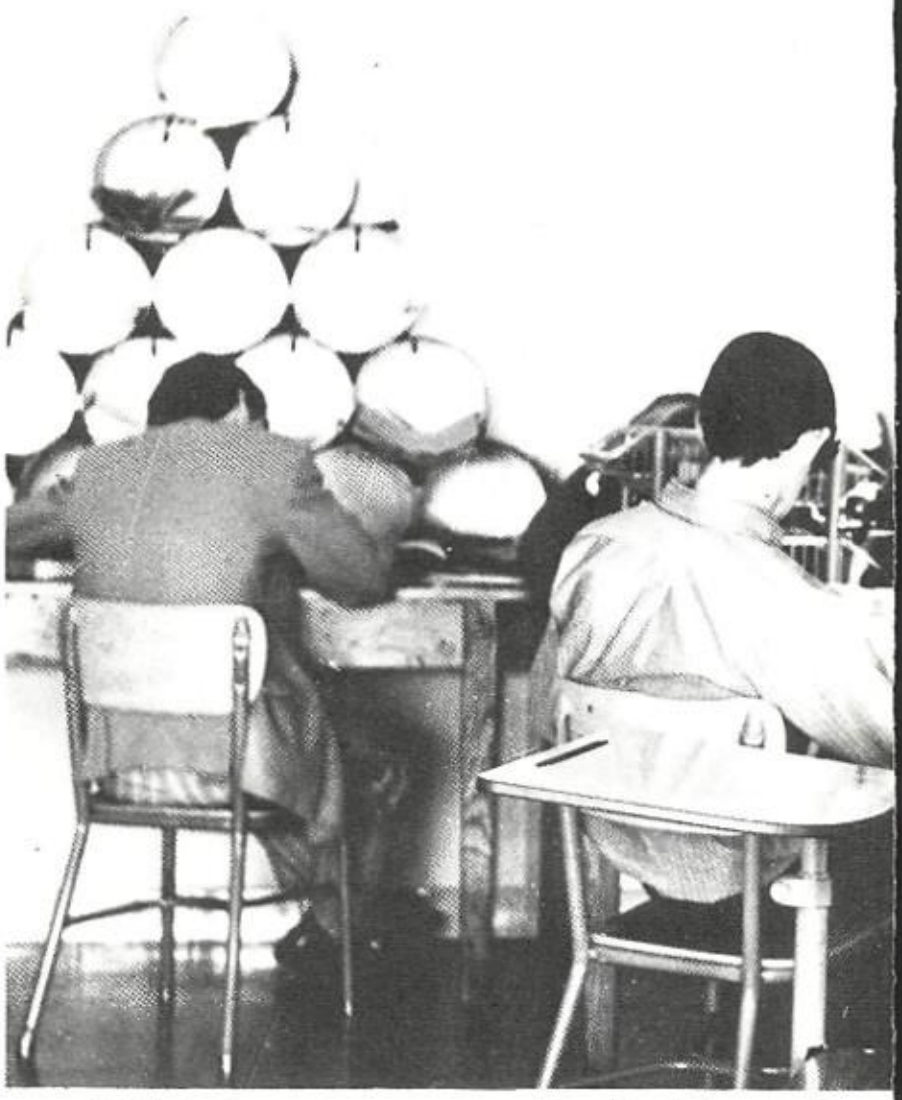
The yearbook room functions as dressing room, wardrobe, study hall, lunchroom . . .



Keeping up with annual photos is an endless task.

Wrangler offers informative articles in magazine format

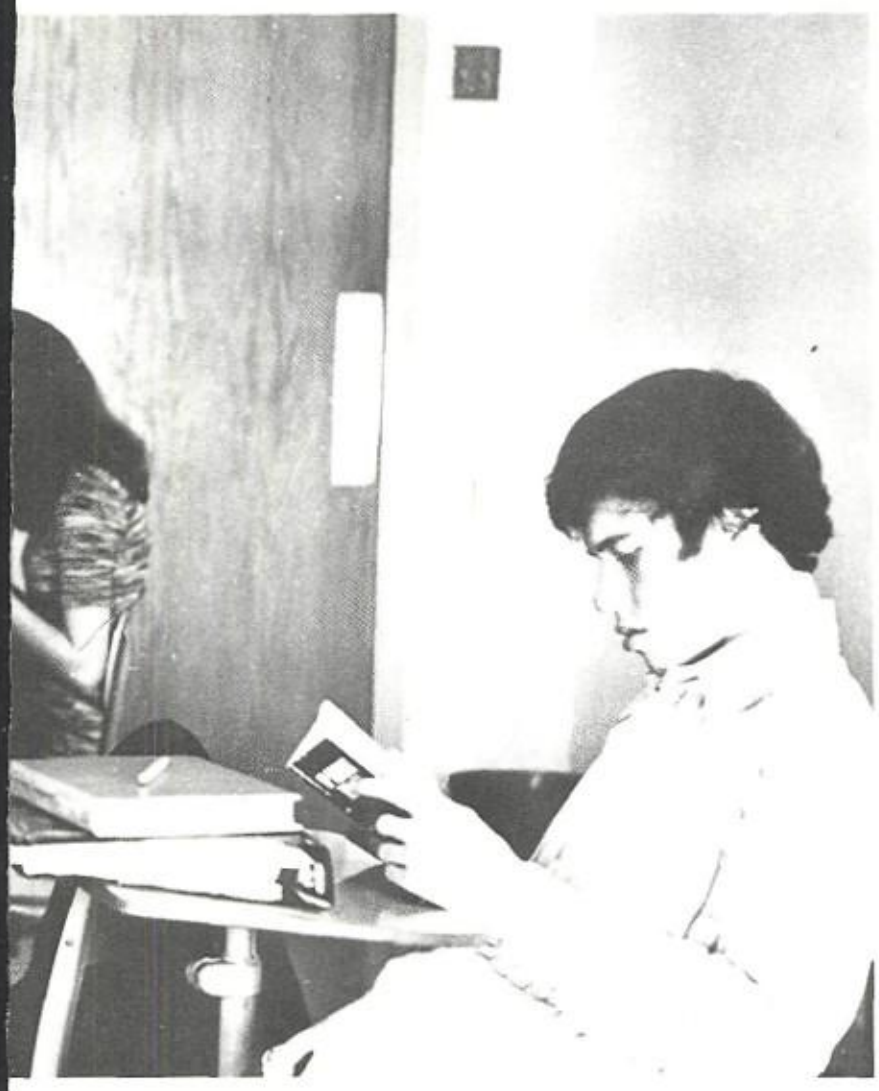
Donna studies copyblocks that must be filled by the deadline.



While in the newspaper room, staffers "do their own thing."

From one editor to another . . .

Wrangler initiates innovative ideas



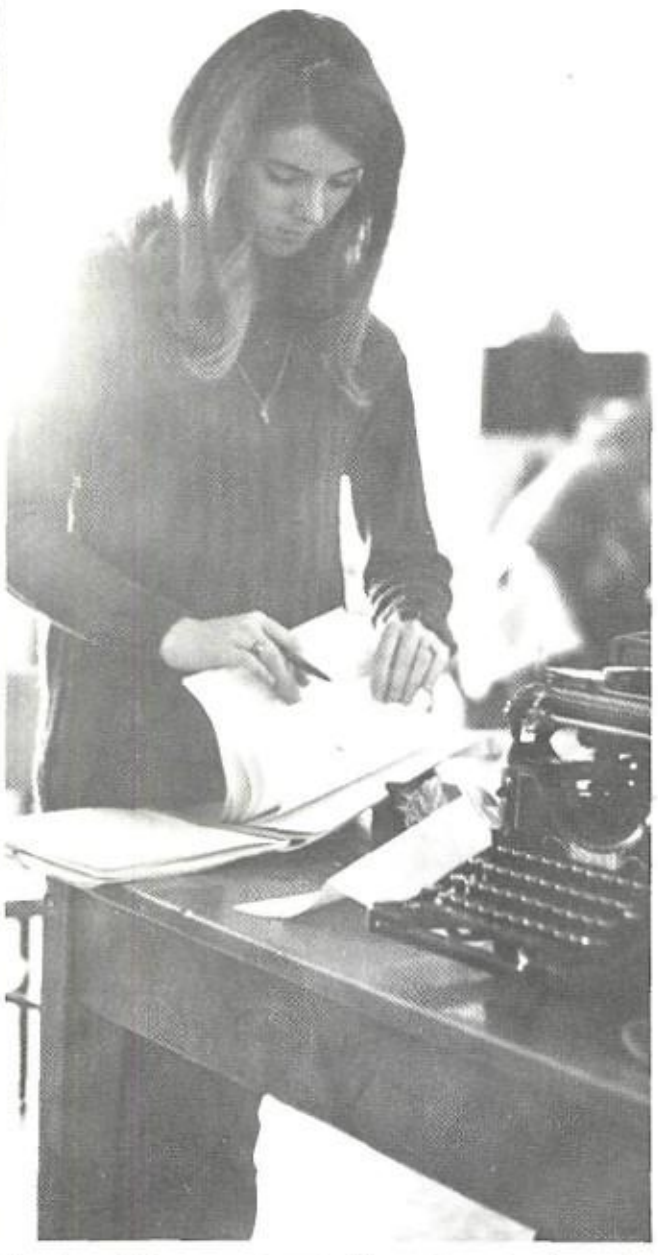
Under the leadership of Mrs. Terry Henigsman, innovation is the watchword for the "Wrangler" this year. The 1970-71 year has seen a series of changes in the newspaper format.

The Wrangler has changed its format from regular newspaper style to a magazine format. This style calls for three columns instead of the standard five. Also, the magazine calls for greater variation and imagination on the front page.

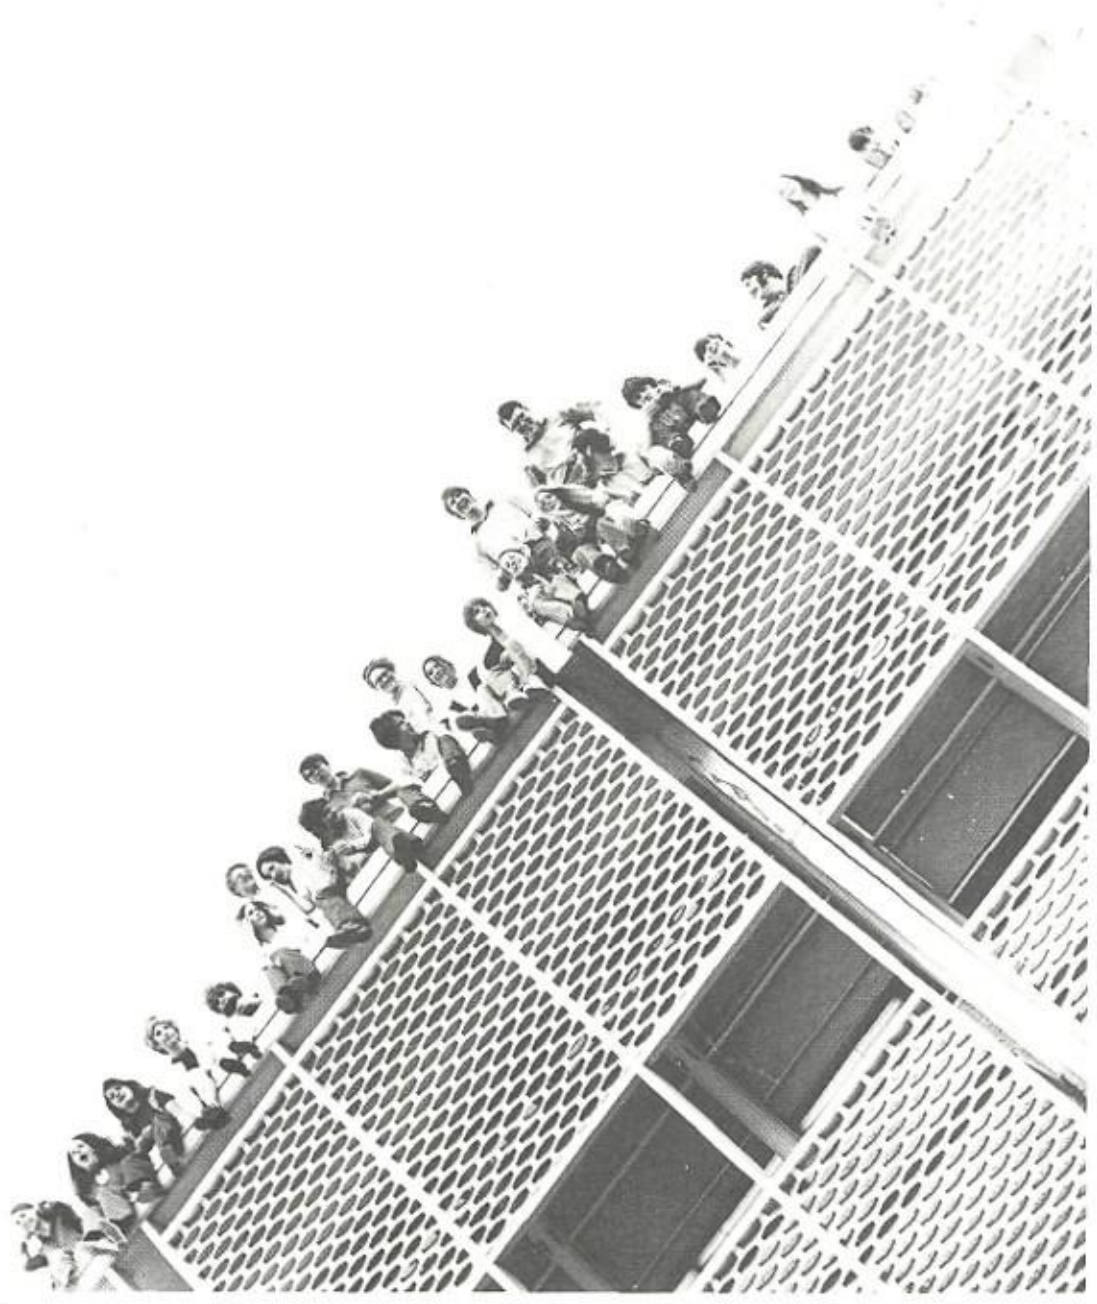
Other innovations include a new editorial policy. This year has seen editorial campaigns and features in the "Wrangler." Such articles include the features on drugs and pollution. This allows for a new medium for educating and entertaining the reader.

This year is the first to see two journalism classes. Second year students make up the core of the staff, while first year students learn the basics of journalism and provide the mass of copy.

Mrs. J. Hopkins continues to carry on the innovative process in the journalistic field. Under her guidance the "Wrangler" goes to be judged at Interscholastic League Press Conference in Austin. This competition highlights the journalistic year for the "Wrangler."



Business Manager, Laurie Clampit, gets ads ready for the printer.



The newspaper staff and Mrs. Hopkins will sit precariously until Carter students pitch in to support the "Wrangler."

Key Club raises funds, sponsors service projects

Carter's Key Club is comprised of a select group of boys chosen for their dedication, character, academic standing, and leadership abilities. The club spends the year raising funds for service projects. One of these projects was taking the special education class to the zoo. The Key Club is a branch of and sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

Student Council

A representative governing body, such as Carter's Student Council, acts as the voice for any constructive ideas and grievances from homerooms and encourages communications between students and the administration.

Student Council officers exercise their leadership capabilities as they conduct open meetings, coordinate committee reports, and provide the enthusiasm and experience needed to make the Student Council most effective.

Projects such as the student directories, the annual homecoming dance, a student handbook, and council members' participation in LIFE (Leaders Interested in the Future of Education), should convince skeptical students that the Student Council is really actively involved in student concerns.

Ecology students show concern for environmental control

Headed by Evelyn Aguilar, the Ecology Club has worked this year not only to improve the environment of today, but also to secure a pollution-free tomorrow. As one of their projects, the club members sponsored a paper drive and helped to emphasize the importance of controlling litter on campus.

The Ecology Club evolved from the interest in environment produced by the promotion of Earth Day last year at Carter. The event aroused so much interest that students decided to organize into an effective group which could take constructive action in pollution control.

Members of the Ecology Club, sponsored by Mrs. Evelyn Aguilar take vigorous interest and action in the control of pollution and environment.

Red Cross appeals for contributions

The high school Red Cross program is a branch of the Youth Program of the American Red Cross. This program is organized through representatives from each homeroom.

Each year the Red Cross holds a membership drive in which donations are made to the fund. Other activities include a Halloween Party, Rural Youth Day at the Fair, and Christmas carolling. The Red Cross plans an Easter egg hunt and a play to promote membership as other service projects.

Art Service Club

The art service club makes many valuable contributions in creating, designing, and building the scenery for "Blithe Spirit" and "Oklahoma."

The club provides the members with the opportunity for gaining and applying both aesthetic and technical knowledge of art and stage design.

Art Service Club members also take part in field trips to art galleries, art related companies, and special exhibits.

Traffic Safety Council stages dramatization urges forethought, caution

Voluntary representatives from each homeroom comprise the Traffic Safety Council. In a special assembly, the members presented a film on race driving and safety.

The Council attended a convention at Southern Methodist University at which groups discussed current problems and issues. The council has proven influential in improving the parking situation as well as in helping to get sidewalks layed on Wheatland Road. Officers this year are Karel Carpenter. Vicky and Dan demonstrate their teamwork.

70-71 Cowboy Cheerleaders

Agility, exciting stunts, and enthusiastic team support, are trademarks of the Carter cheerleaders. Under the direction of Miss Virginia Farr, the cheerleaders plan pep assemblies, supervise auditorium decoration, and they work toward building student involvement in athletic competition.

Donna takes a tricky leap onto Brad's shoulders.

Elaborate mums don the girls' cheerleader jackets — a traditional gesture.

FCA unites athletes

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes, newly formed under the leadership of Don Todd, works toward uniting athletes under Christian ideals. Walker Westerlage and Randy Smith head up the organization's officers. Meetings are usually held in the gym after a hardy game of scrub basketball, or at a member's house.

This year, the FCA and Young Life organizations got together for a weiner roast at Randy Smith's farm.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is led by: Don Todd, Sponsor; James Anderson, Walker Westerlage, and Paul Murphy.

Originality highlights Calico half-time shows

1970-71 Calico officers crown Terri Bourland Miss Nu-Nu 1971.

The Calico drill team is an entertaining part of the football half-time activities. This year as well as last, they were seen with tambourines, hula-hoops, hats, banjos and their newest props, maypoles.

The Calicos helped to lead the enthusiastic spirit of the Cowboy fans, and their support was carried over to each of the succeeding sports.

This year the Calicos' activities range from beginning of a spirit committee to acting as hostesses of the school board meeting to even selling toothbrushes as a fund raising project.

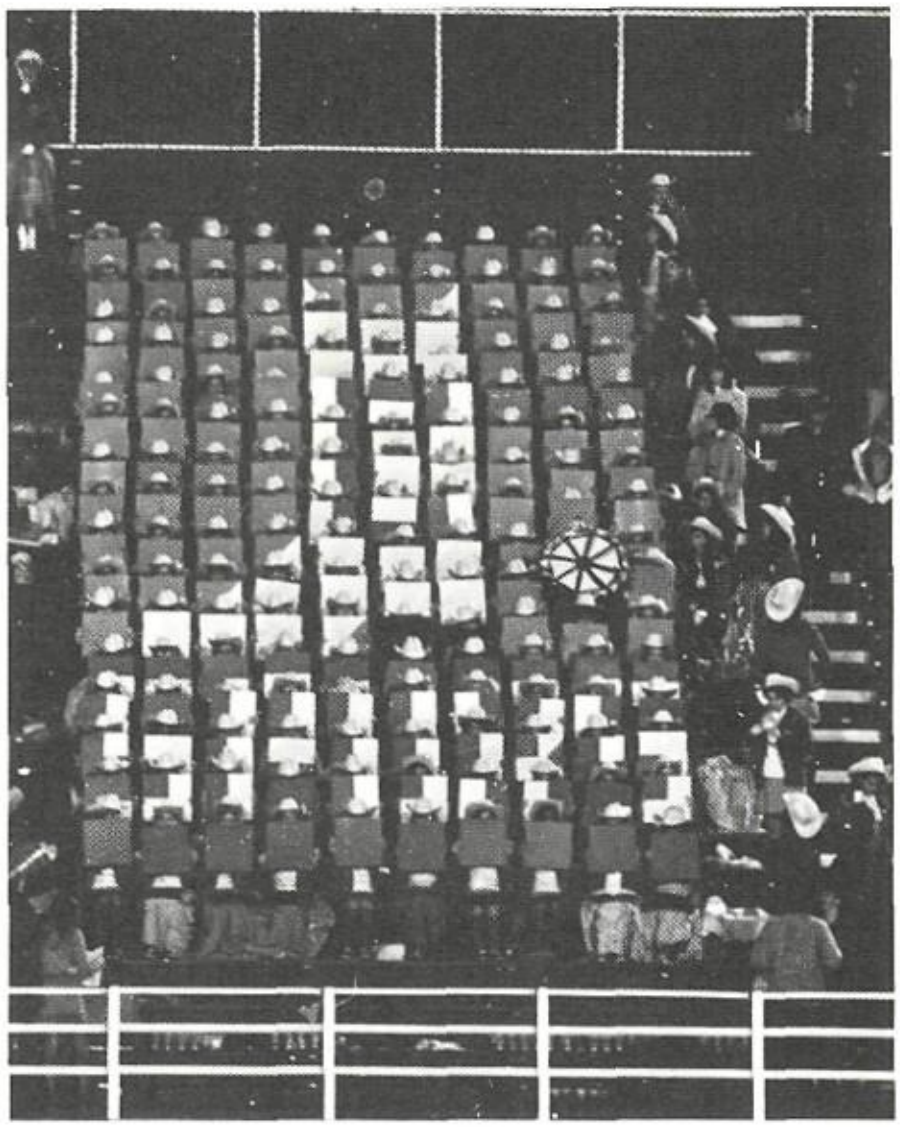
Spurs capture spirit of team support

Carter's pep club, the Spurs, plays an important role in the support of the Cowboy's athletic competition. Carter is proud of the fifteen flash card stunts performed by the Spurs during football half time activities. The Spurs are one of two pep clubs in this district which use card tricks to highlight their performance. Girls also use pom-poms and hand routines to add color and variety to the stands. President Julia Gooch, Vice-President Patti Sandusk, Secretary Cindy Crisp, and Treasurer Colleen Woods direct the pep squad in their various duties which include morning practices, auditorium decoration, and arrangements for out-of-town games. This year, the Spurs are directed by their sponsors, Mrs. Tommie Warlick, Mrs. Anita Brown and Mrs. Jo Markham.



The red, white and blue boot and spur was one of the exciting new card stunts introduced last season.

1970-71 SPURS

Good sportsmanship, safety, and accuracy encouraged by D.W.C. Gun Club

During its first year, the Gun Club has become one of the school's largest organizations. Club membership is open to all boys who wish to learn proper rifle techniques. Participating in team and individual hunts, the members demonstrate their ability through sportsmanship, shooting skills, and the proper care and handling of guns. A select group of members went on a ram hunt in January. Spring plans include a number of interclub skeet shoots.

1971 Cowboy Band Major and Majorettes

Andy Capp absorbs Mr. Rumbley's interest during the Roosevelt game.

Headed by Drum Major, Richard Pierce, and directed by Mr. Jack Rumbley, the Cowboy band performed in halftime shows and pep assemblies throughout the football season. Adding to their repertoire contemporary pieces, such as the theme songs to "Mash" and "Tommy," the band even did a sing-along selection of "Rubber Ducky."

After football season, band members went back to sleeping late in the morning and started practicing for the musical, "Oklahoma," as well as for competition in band festivals.

Each year the band also hosts a Spring concert. Hulcy and Atwell bands perform at this event and Carter's selections are included on the annual record of music performed at games, assemblies, and concerts.

Herd places 2nd in city band festival

Exciting jazz arrangements, talented musicians, and a capable director such as Mr. Jack Rumbley, make Carter's Herd Stage Band an entertaining group which brings new recognition to the music department.

This year, the Herd attended the Stephenville Stage Band Festival and netted the second place honors. The Mountain View College Festival in the spring also provides an opportunity for more competitive achievements. Pep assemblies, the stage band concert, numerous public engagements, and the ROTC ball, top off the busy performance schedule for 1970-71.

Six of the Herd musicians won a spot on the Dallas All-City Stage Band, and many junior Herd members will be returning for an even more exciting year in '72.

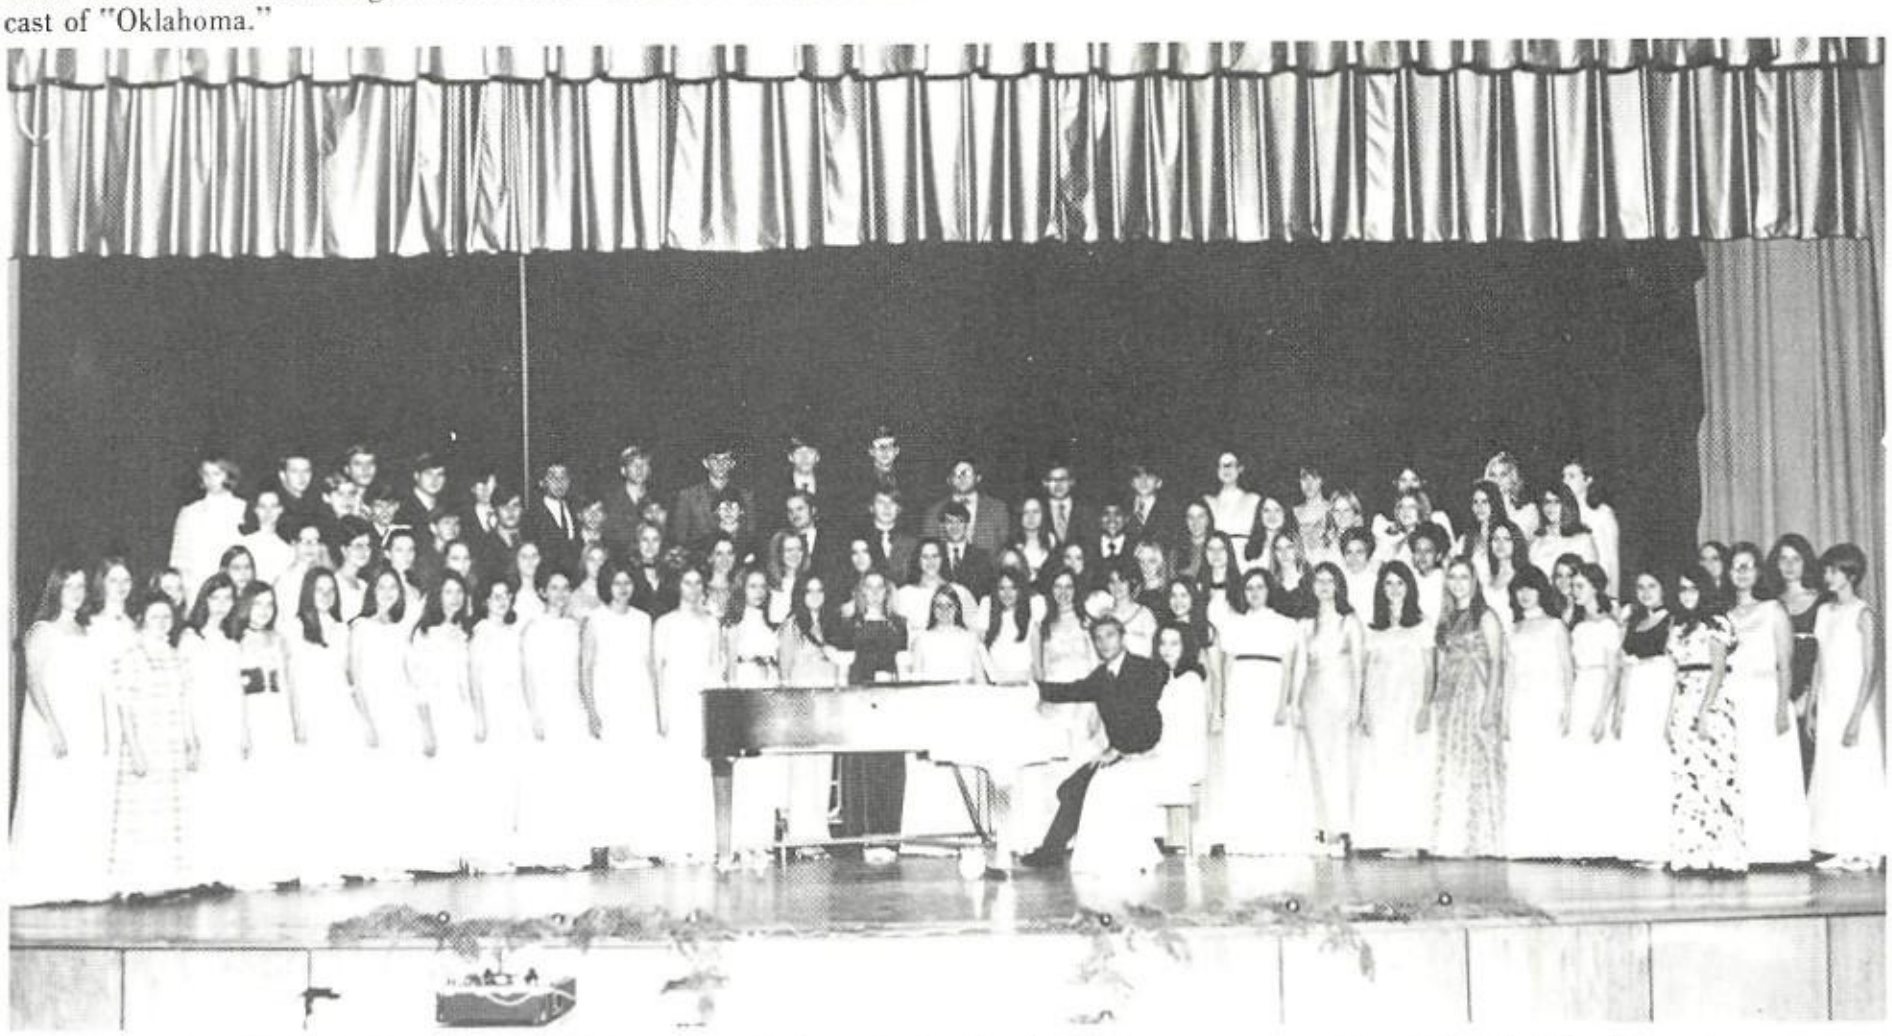
Choir members Debbie Burgoon and Charles Lee were chosen to lead the cast of "Oklahoma."

Chorus presents Christmas, Easter song festivals

Concert Choir includes a select group of singers who audition in the spring of the year before. The members are then put in a specific period to work on programs. Choir programs include Christmas and Spring programs. Members also participate in the Musical if they wish. The spring activities include an ensemble contest for Concert Choir members.



The 1970-71 Carter Concert Choir appears in formal attire for the Christmas program directed by Mr. John Vavroch.

The group consists of thirteen vocals and uses various instruments, such as a guitar and tambourine, to add to the total effect of the group. New Ideas are selected on singing ability at the first of the year by Mr. Vavroch and senior members of the group.

Paul Terry and other debaters spend much extra time researching their debate topic.

Debaters aim towards National Forensic League

Though still a relatively new program at Carter, debate is expanding rapidly. Under the guidance of Mrs. Penny Barshop the debate class is aimed at learning the principles of discussion.

Debate involves an in depth study of discussion and debate. In contrast to regular discussion, debate is a formalized argument on a given topic. Each topic is of national importance decided on by the National Forensic League. Schools throughout the nation debate on the same topic.

The goal of all debaters is National Forensic League membership, an honor organization based on speaking ability. Students gain points for debate, extemporaneous speaking and dramatic interpretation.

Members of the Forensic League working as a team in competition with other schools are: Debbie Foster, Rhonda Hughes, Debbie Brom, Johnny Barrera, Lynn Ann Cooper, David Jones, Hal Shelley, Vicki Glass, Paul Terry, and Jimmy Jacobus.

Thespians achieve dramatic honors

The Troupe of Carter International Thespians is made up of drama students who earn honor points through participation in tournaments, plays, and service to the drama department. This year, the Thespians and initiates made a trip to the Country Dinner Playhouse to see a professional production of "Cactus Flower."

Thespians Susan Stone and Debbie Paris play lead roles in "Blithe Spirit."

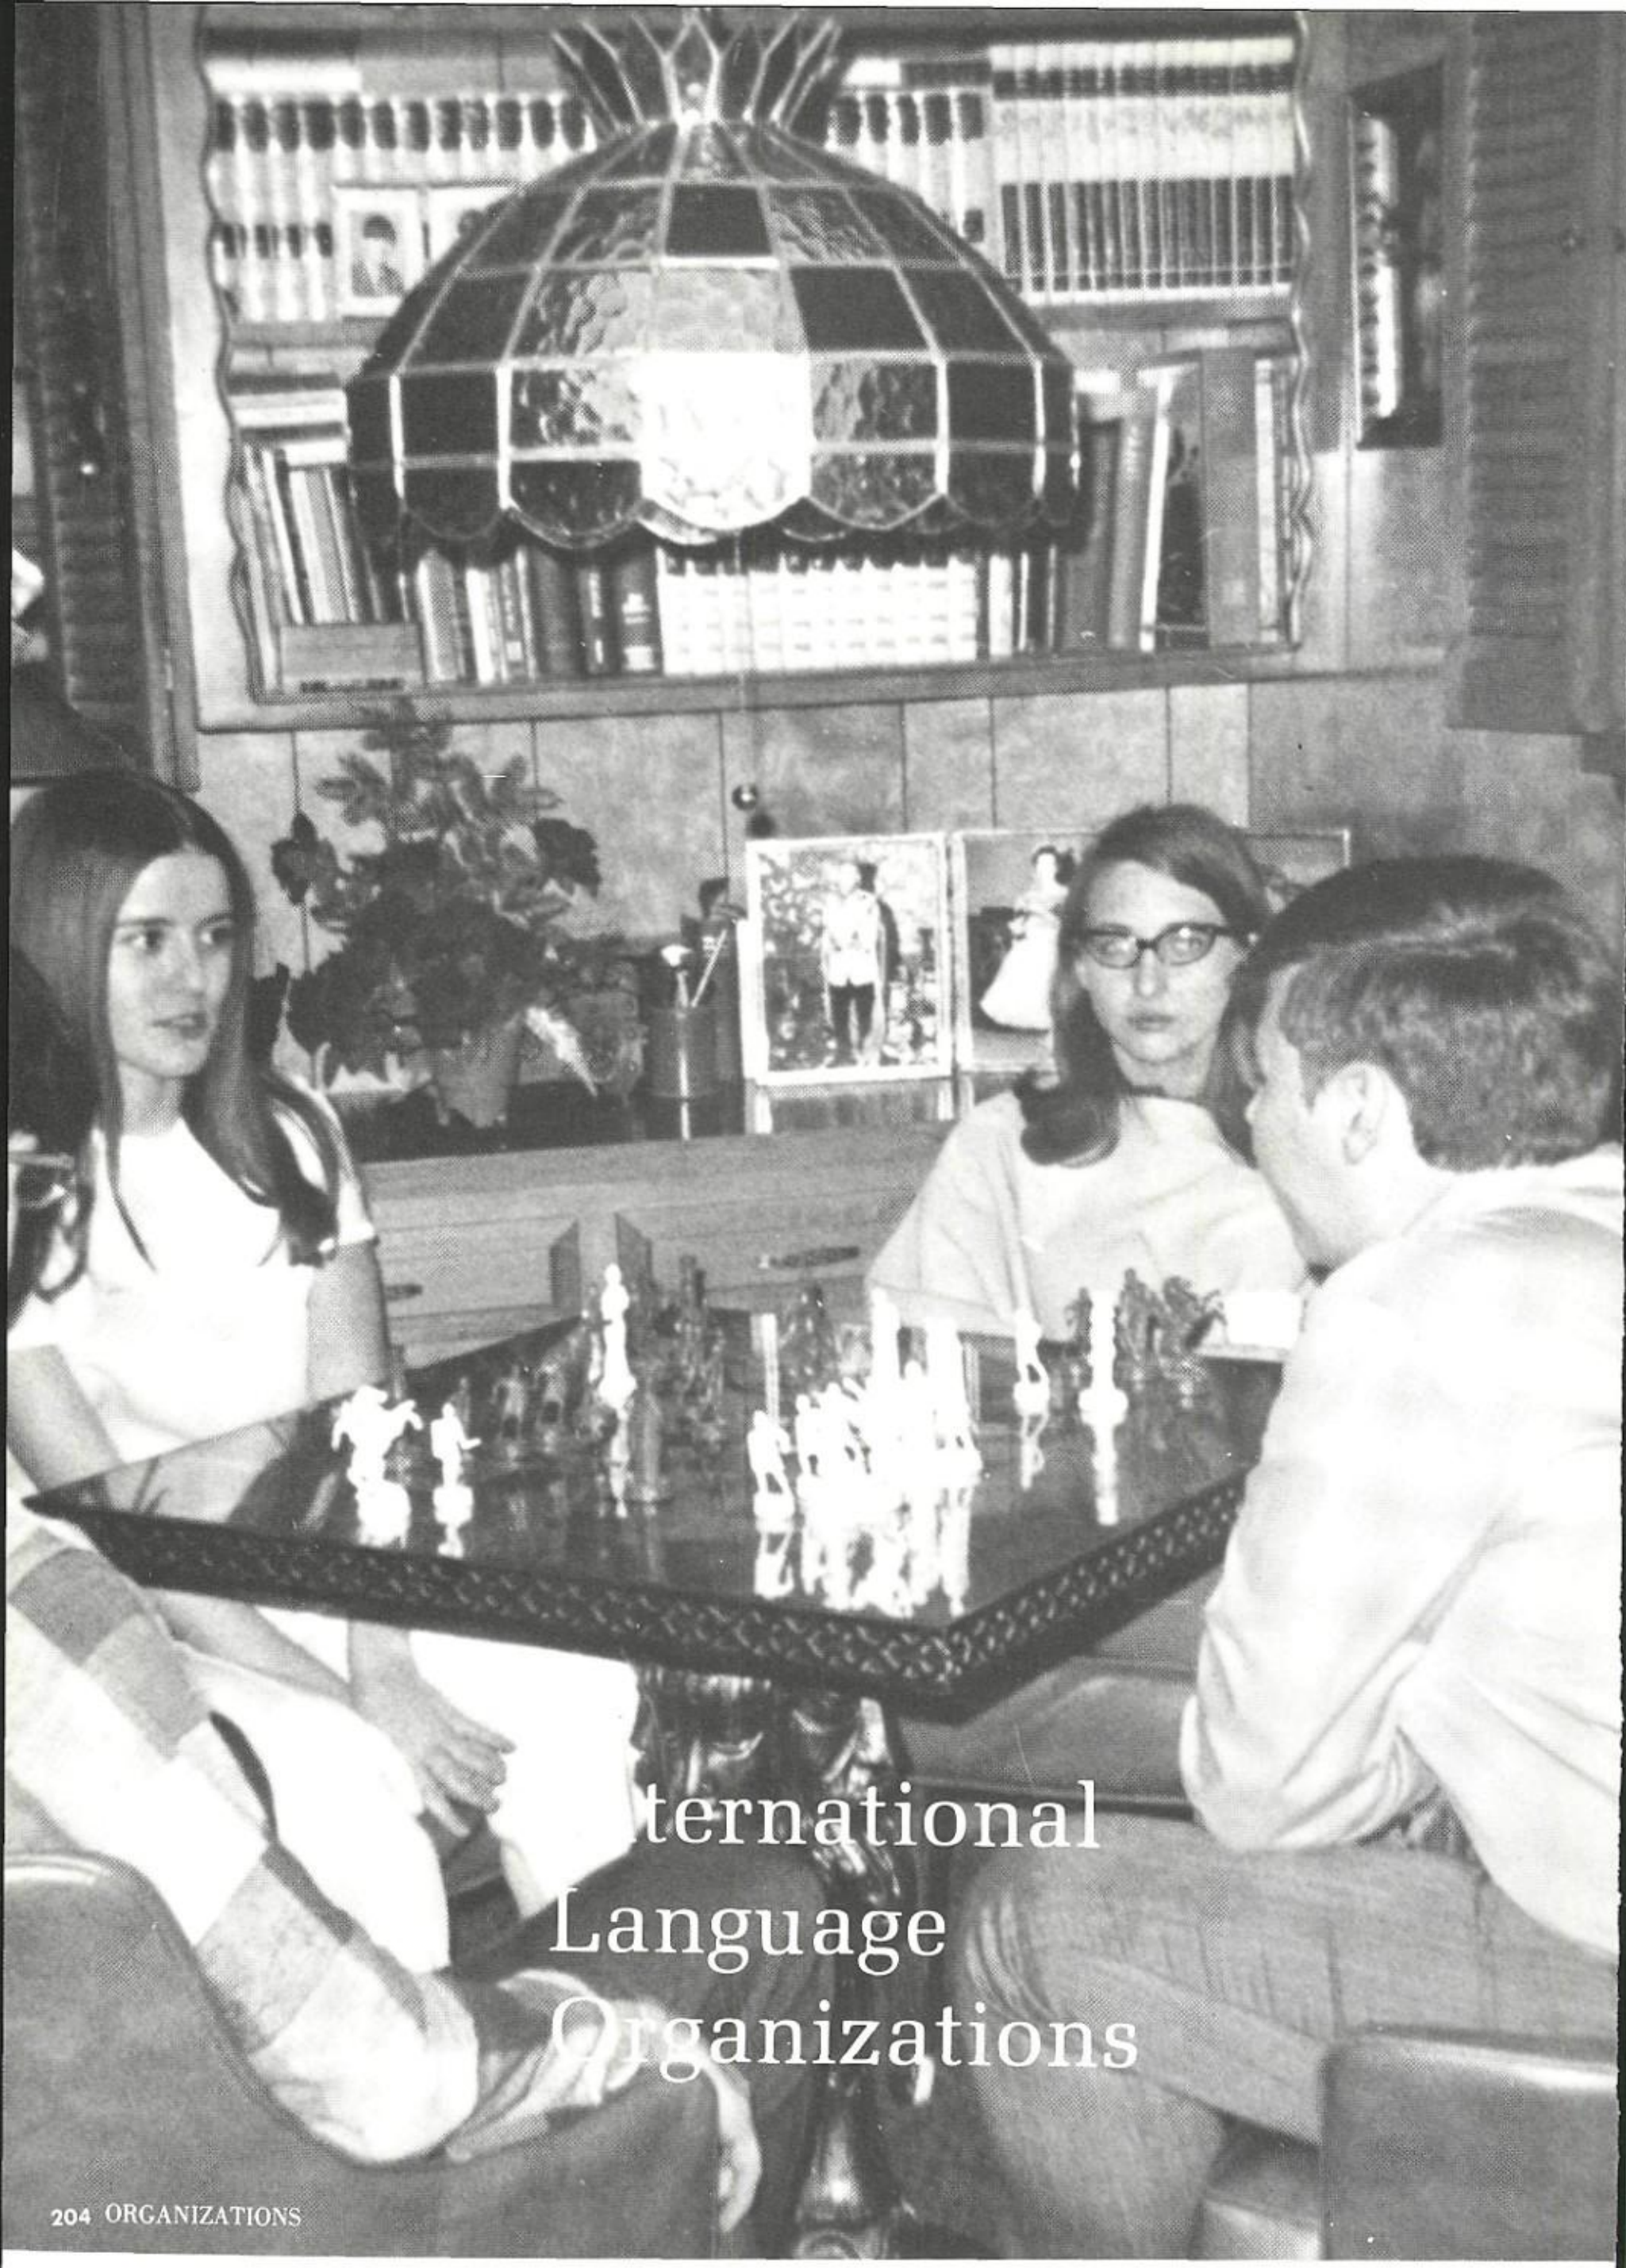
Creative Writing Club

Members of the Creative Writing Club are encouraged to express their ideas through writing original poetry, free verse and stories. Much of their work is selected for publication in the Wrangler or in an anthology. There are no standard requirements for membership in the club.

One of the highlights of the club's activities is a book bazaar held twice a year. The proceeds from the sale are used for the purchase of trophies and medals which are awarded to outstanding students in a school wide creative writing contest.

Mrs. Russell and the Creative Writing Club members contribute imagination, talent for publications.



International Language Organizations

Junior Classical League delves into ancient civilization

Set up as a Roman social class system, the Latin Club explores not only the language, but also the customs and culture of the ancient country. The plebeians, new members, are initiated each year at a banquet held at Pizza Inn. They dress in togas and must perform tasks for the patricians, the Senior members of the club.

The Junior Classical League is a national as well as state-wide organization. Each year, the club attends the state convention where they compete with other Latin Club members.

The members also sponsor a teacher appreciation coffee and hold a Spring banquet in order to honor Miss Satunalia and other outstanding club members.

The Patricians and Plebians pose for their group shot.

Christmas party highlights season

Three major events highlighted the year for the German club. In the fall, members attended a banquet at Der Jagerstube, the hunting lodge. Jennie Pace the guest speaker, described her summer visit to Germany.

Christmas presented another occasion for a party at the Brewer's house. After an evening including games such as ping-pong, basketball, chess, pool and a guessing game, the club sang German carols and presented the Frau with a hostess gown.

The club also challenged the Kimball German club to a rematch miniature golf game this spring. The officers of the club are: Vonn Zauber, Pres., Susan Stevens, V-Pres., Eddy Brewer, Sec.-Treas., Jimmy Wallace, Program Chairman.

Spanish Club service minded

Fund raising projects, conventions, and district meetings are the activities in which Los Vaqueros, Carter's Spanish Club, are involved.

Spanish Club members are active in several service projects this year. In order to raise money for these projects and other club activities, the club held two bake sales and sold paper flowers which the members had made. Part of this money is used as a contribution to help underprivileged children in Peru.

A Christmas banquet was given at El Fenix in order to initiate new members and officers.

District Meetings, comprised of all the clubs in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area, are attended by the members also. Programs, and district business are discussed.

The highlight of the year is the convention held for the Pan American Student Forum. San Antonio was the location of the convention on the fourth and fifth of March. Members attended classes and workshops, learning new ways to improve their club.

Personal and community living improved through FHA involvement

Improvement of personal, family, and community living is cited as the purpose of the Future Homemakers of America.

Club activities include a luncheon with parents and faculty, area, regional, and state meetings, field trips and formal teas.

The stated ideals of FHA reach into all phases of family and community living. These include:

Promotion of the satisfactions of homemaking

Emphasis of the function of the family as a basic unit of society

Involvement of youth with adults in group activities

Encouragement of democracy through cooperative action in home and community

A development of interest in home economics careers and related occupations.

Under the direction of Miss Evelyn Woods, the Future Homemakers of America work for improvement of family living.

Reserve Officer Training Corps

Corps led by staff commanders officers, and instructors

The Reserve Officers Training Corps, Junior Division, at David W. Carter High School, is organized as the 21st ROTC Battalion, otherwise called the Corps. The battalion is composed of five companies, with each organized in line with an Army Infantry unit to allow for a chain of command. Additionally, the battalion is commanded by the cadet Battalion Commander, who has a Headquarters composed of Staff Officers and Staff Instructors.

The officers in the Corps are normally third-year cadets, while the noncommissioned officers are second-year cadets. The companies are commanded by cadet Captains, with Lieutenants as their Platoon Leaders, while the Battalion is commanded by a cadet Lieutenant Colonel.

The ROTC program has many goals, with the primary aspect to allow a young man to acquire pride and confidence in himself and his country, and to attain the level of leadership necessary to become a leader in his community. The program is not designed to produce soldiers, but only to provide young men with the fundamental knowledge of basic military subjects if and when they enter service. The greatest goal is good citizenship, which is enhanced through the requirements of the program.

The Carter ROTC program is extremely active, and performs in the many activities of the school. Members of the Corps also volunteer to help in maintaining order in the school building, and raise the United States and Texas Flag daily.

The cadets work hard to better themselves, their school, and their community, but they also enjoy the Corps social activities, the Drill Team, and the Rifle Team competitions. Overall, if a young man wants to get involved and meet the challenge of becoming a better man, then the Corps is the place to be.

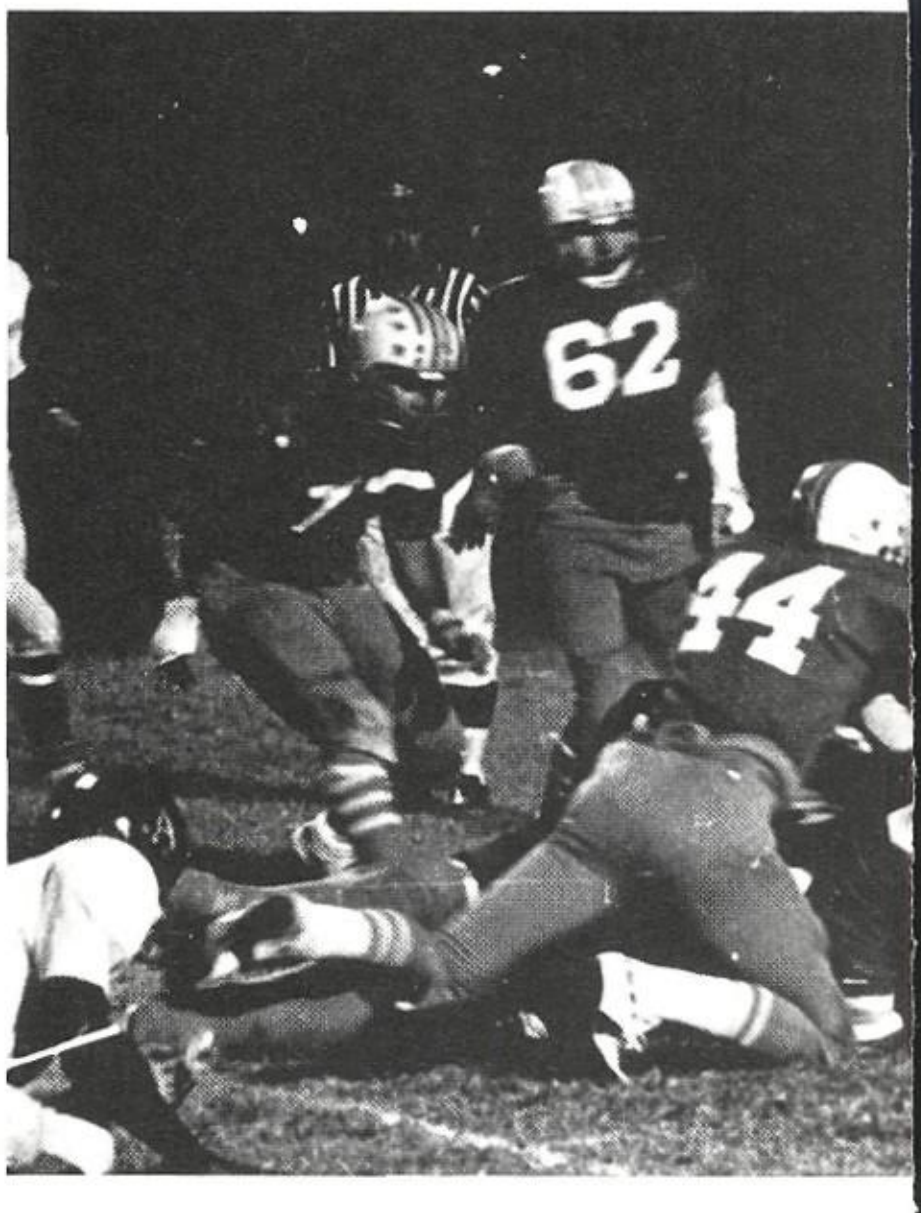
Pokes take 2 of 3 in pre-season matches

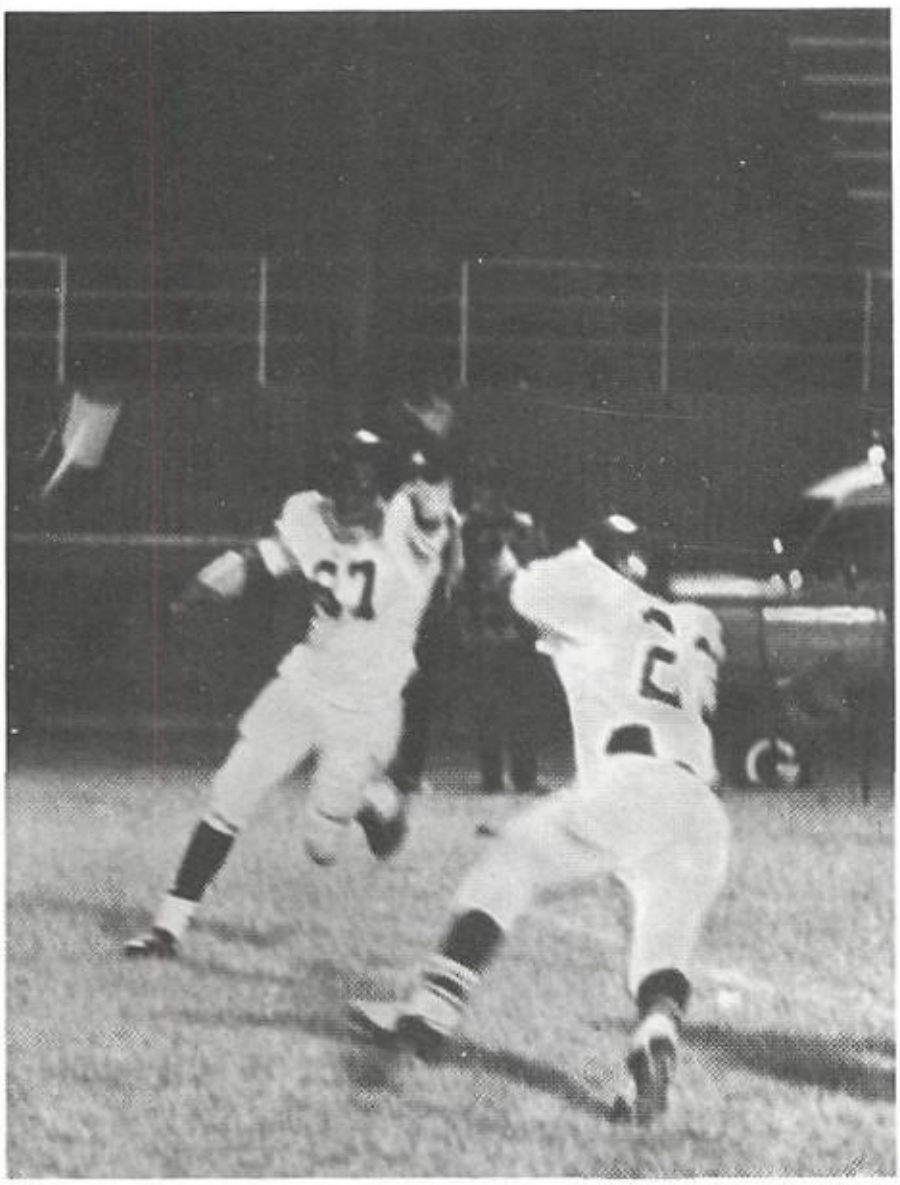
The Cowboys started the pre-season off with a bang as they defeated A&M Consolidated of Bryan, Texas, 46-6. Everyone played an outstanding game. The Cowboys had a total yardage of 372 yards.

Next on the Cowboy agenda was the South Garland Colonels. The Cowboys were defeated 13-6. The Cowboys offense was led by running back Pat Berna, with 4 carries for 40 yards and the Cowboys' only touchdown. Clifford Bangham was the leading receiver with 2 catches for 32 yards.

Then came one of the biggest upsets of the year, as the Cowboys defeated Lake Highlands 12-6. The Cowboys defense was led by linemen Ken Noles and John Sanders, and linebacker Joe Kay. The 2 touchdowns were made by Clifford Bangham on a 10 yard pass from Joe Rust and a 1 yard keeper by Rust.



This time the Coyboys came out on top!



The closer he gets, the worse he looks.

SOC slips by Carter

A 76 touchdown pass started the first quarter of the SOC game off with a bang. SOC's defense, however, held the Cowboys and the half found the score at 7-6 after a Bear touchdown.

In the second half, SOC drove 59 yards to score with 5:55 left in the third quarter. Two plays after the kickoff, the ball was knocked from the hands of the Cowboy's ball carrier. SOC then picked it out of the air and went in for a touchdown. Fourty-five seconds later, the Bears scored again making the score 26-6.

The never-say-die Cowboys then intercepted and carried the ball to the 17 yard line, and five plays later, they scored narrowing the Bear's lead to 14 points. The Cowboys made an onside kick, recovering it at SOC's 36 yard line. The following touchdown made the final score 26-20, Bears.

Spangler and Baker go in to ward off the opponents drive.

Homecoming proves happy Carter defeats Adamson 19-7

Adamson controlled the first half of the game, leading, 7-3. The Leopards only score of the game was made with 8:59 left in the second quarter. They scored on a quick-opener into the middle from the 16 yard line.

The Cowboys were inside the Adamson 40 yard line only twice in the 1st half, but got it together in the 2nd half to pull out of their slump.

The Cowboys used Baker's running and Perdue's kicking to topple the Leopards. Smith intercepted two of Sigler's passes in the 2nd half and made a clutch tackle on punter Amish, as he ran for a 4th down from the Carter 14 yard line. Amish made it only to the 27 and 3 plays later Carter crashed in for the score, ending the game, Carter 19, Adamson 7.

The 70-71 Carter B-team had one of the best records this year. The boys on the team are good players who aim to win, and have the essential force of determination. Some of the outstanding offensive players were Curtis Ward, John Knockel, Richard Higgins, and Reed Hanson. Leading the defense were Mark Bigham, Steve Fratus, Kevin Rollawage, and Tony Barrick.

The B-team was pushed, driven, and instructed under the abilities of Coach Neeley. Some of the B-team players will be moving up to the Varsity Squad next year and will support the Cowboy team to the best of their ability.

This year, the Cowboy Basketball team, started one of the most promising seasons in Carter history. With four returning starters, the year looked hopeful for Coach Dickens' Cagers. Many hours of practice, coupled with the determination needed for the game of skill, came to light as the Pokes ended the season with a 16-14 record. Basketball not only requires skill, but also coordination, accuracy, ability, and endurance.

During practice, the team runs precision drills, and works on different plays toward perfecting their skills.

Outstanding scorers in district plays were: seniors Gene Gorman, Jimmy Jacobus, and juniors Gary Landers.

The true fighting Cowboy spirit not only won victory in many close games, but won the Cowboys respect for their hard work.

Cheryl, Well, it's been another long, hard year at Indiana. It's been a great time. I'm glad you joined the team. You've been a big help to the girls. Keep up the good work. Hope you're pleased with your progress. Stay cool. Have a great year.

This year Carter's Swimming team has been recognized as one of the best in their district.

Preparation for dual meets include daily dry-land workouts, sprinting for better times, stroke classes, and long distance workouts in the water on various strokes. Coach Raper holds both morning and afternoon workouts at Sprague Pool.

Returning lettermen, Kim Johnson, Jeannie Harris, and Ginger Warner, all who were either City Champs or state qualifiers, highlighted the season with many excellent times to lead the team to victory.

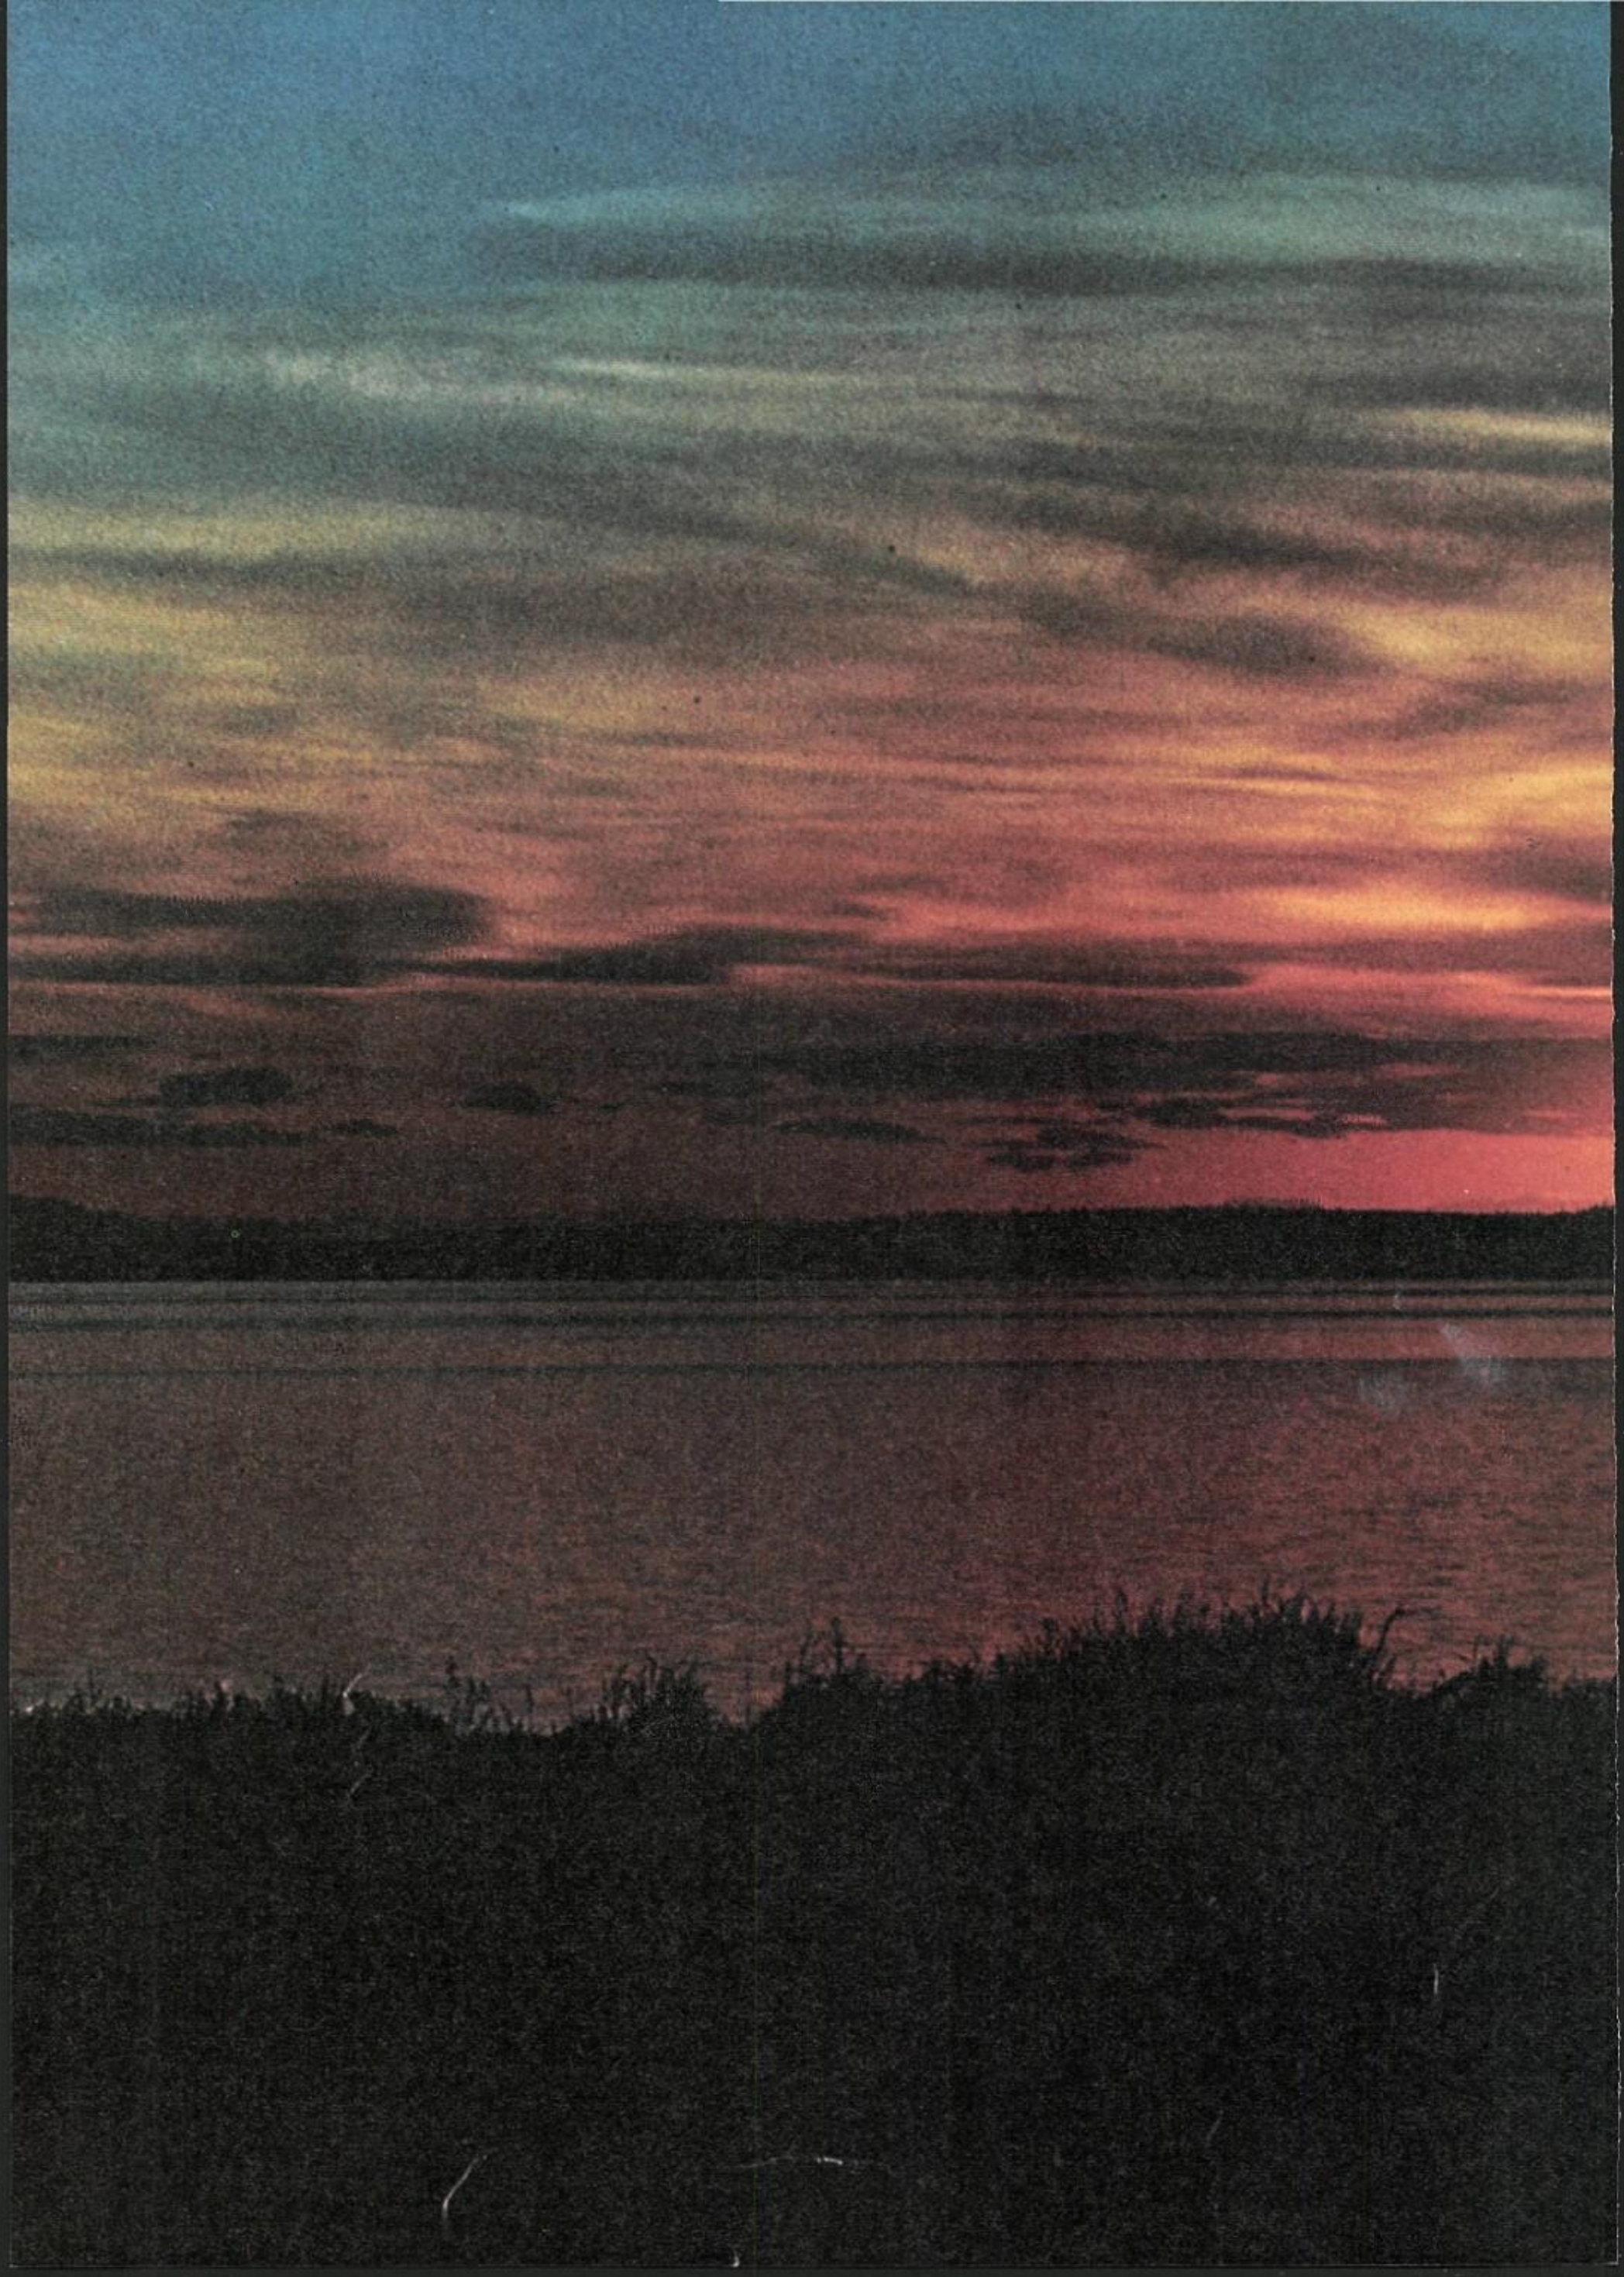
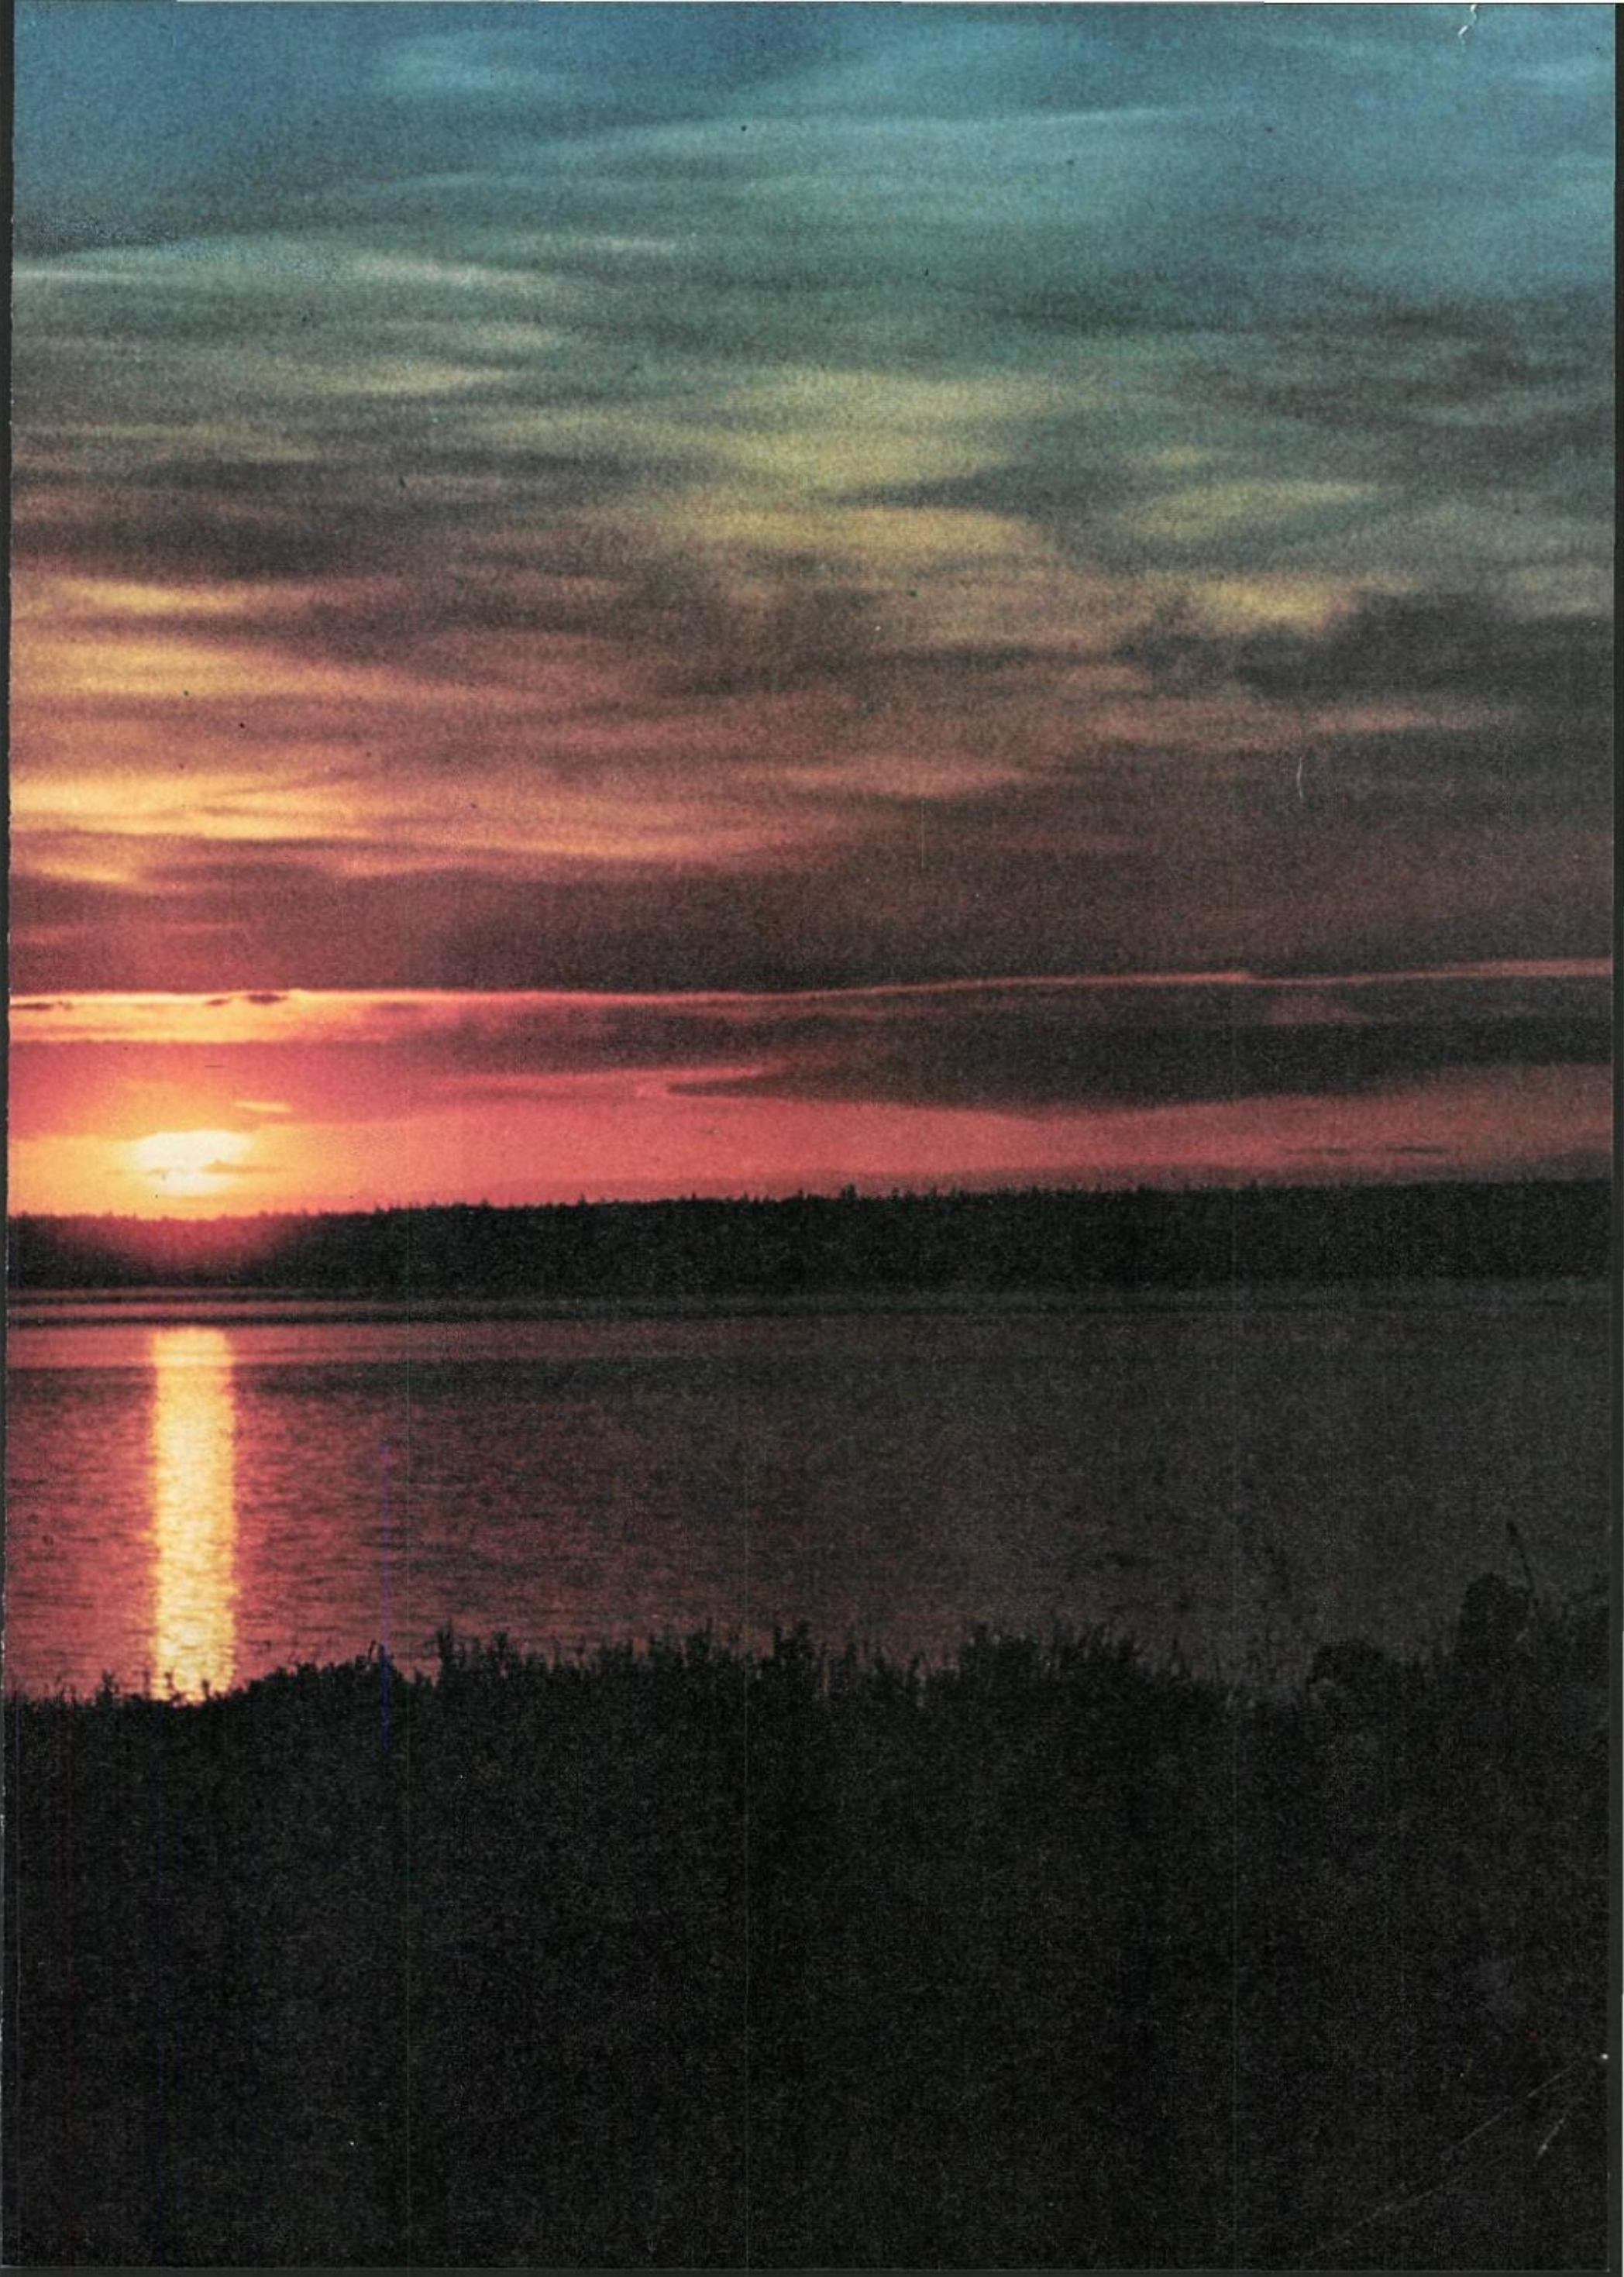
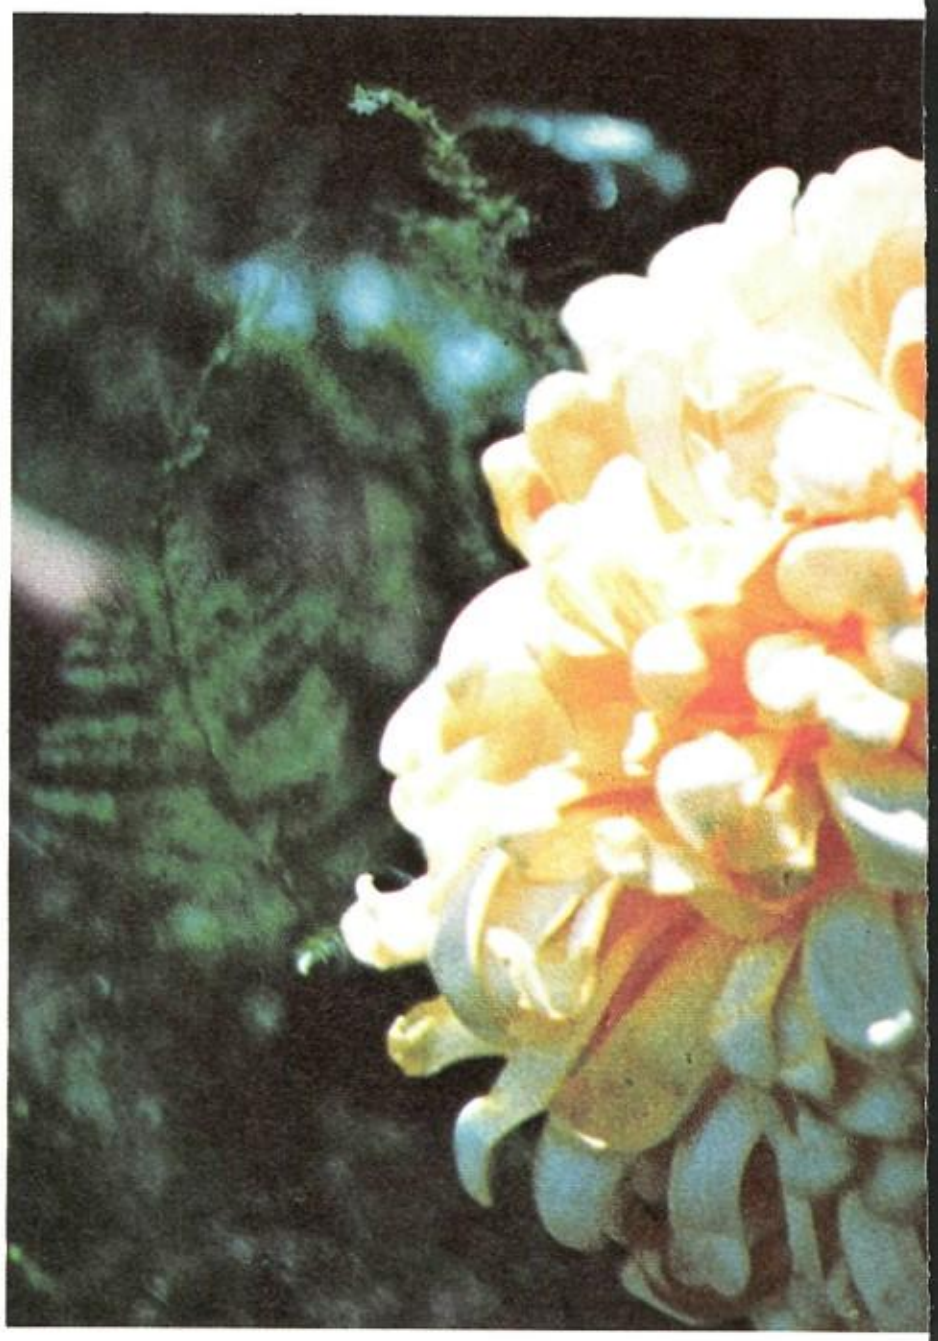
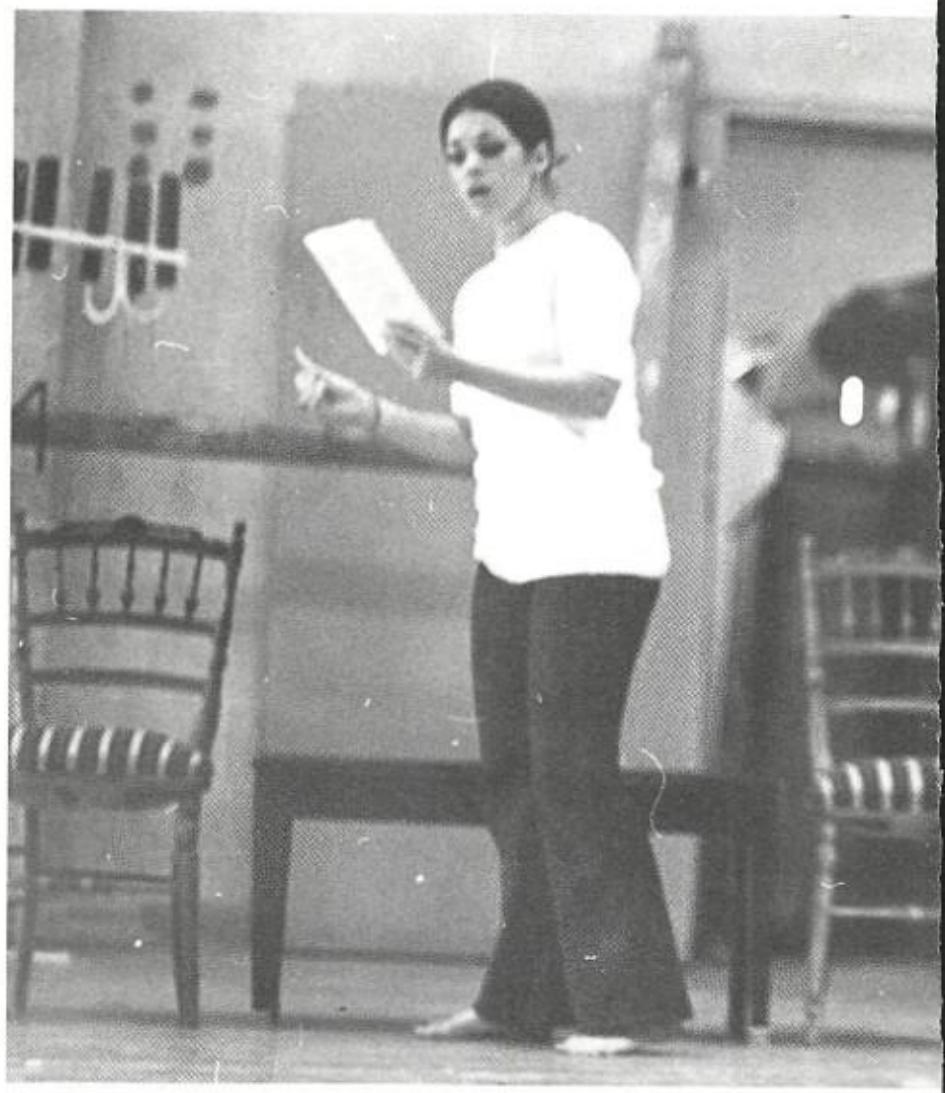
Coach Todd puts the Cowboys through their paces during the pre-game warm-up.

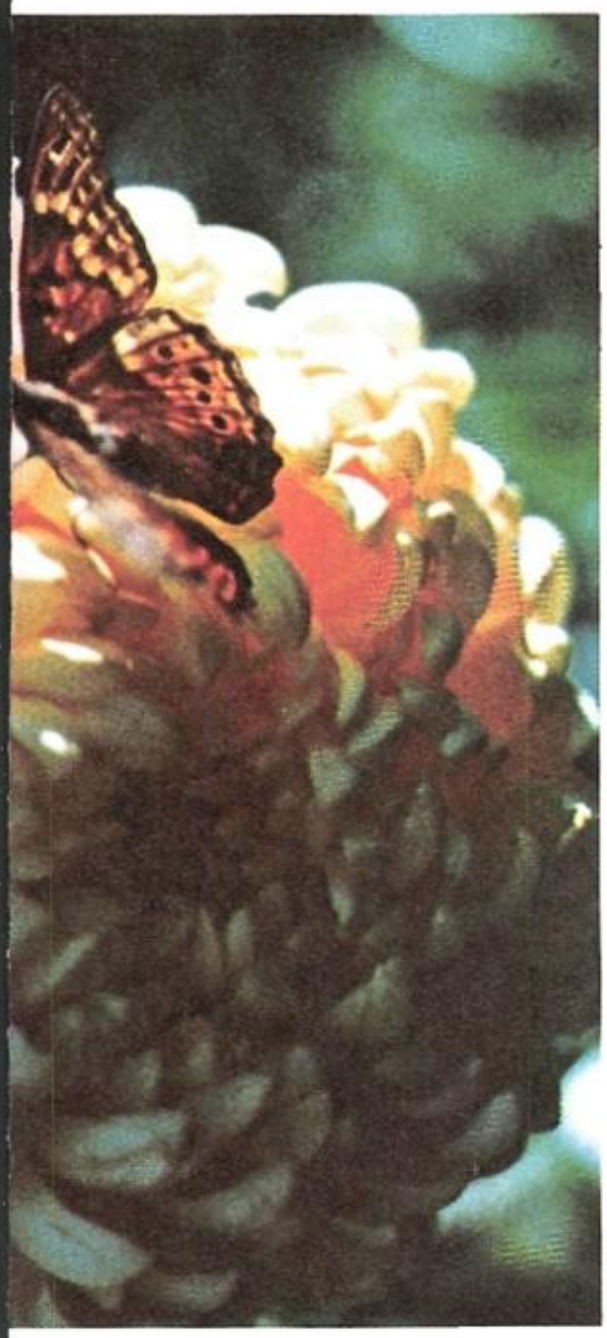




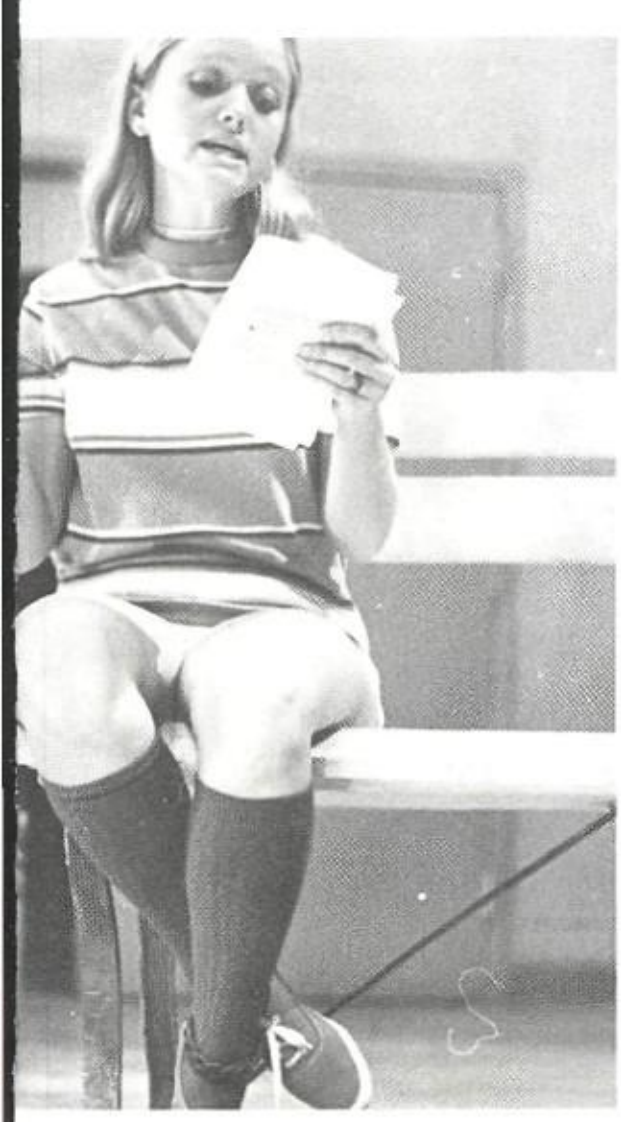
As I look at myself and others, I realize that through my involvement and concern, I have become a part of them.

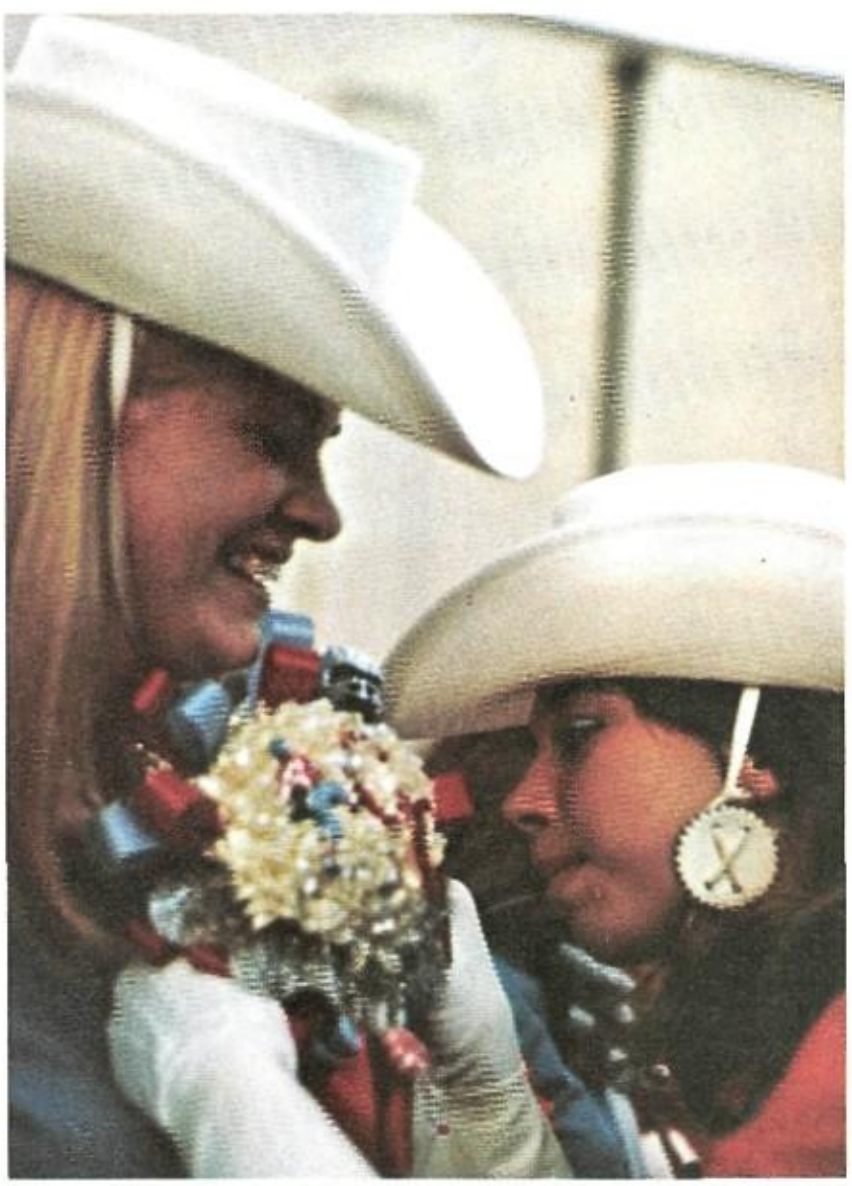




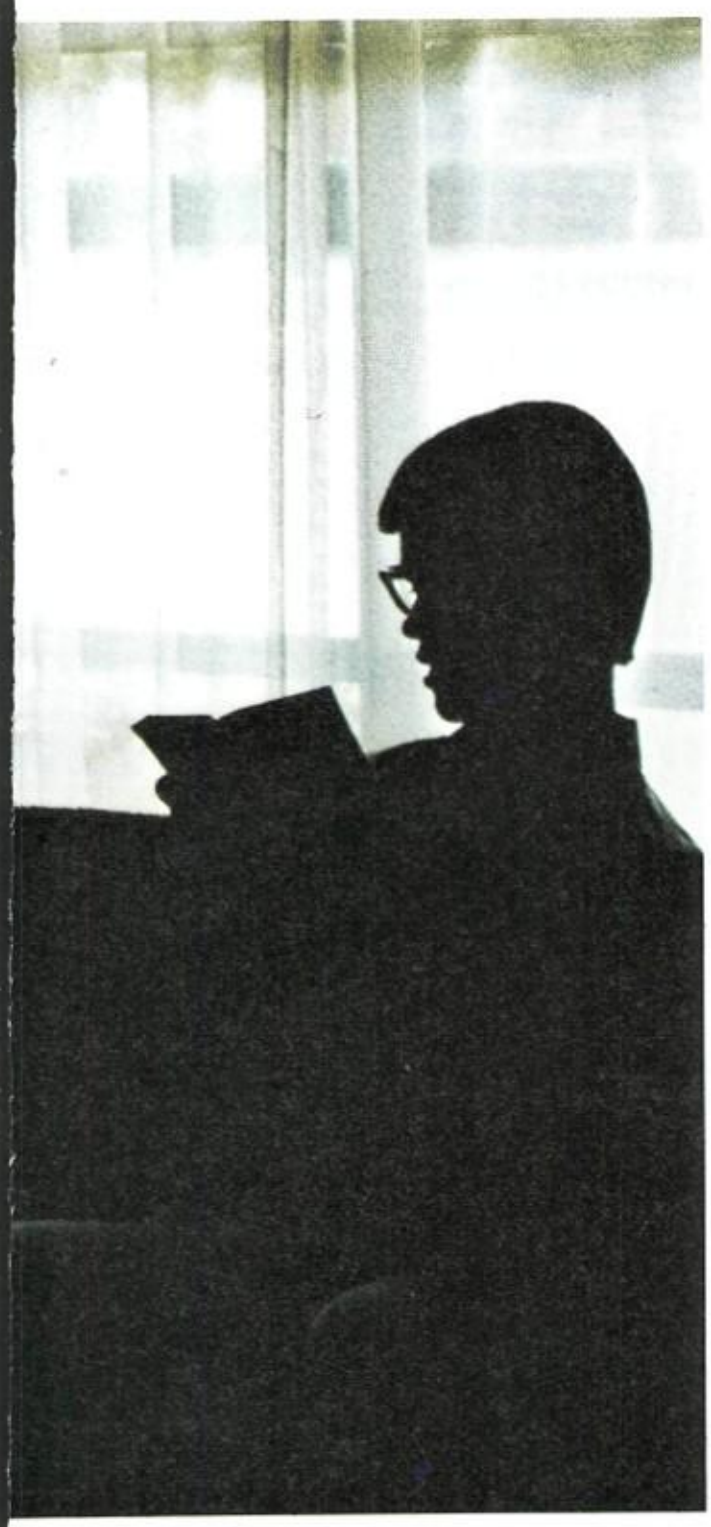


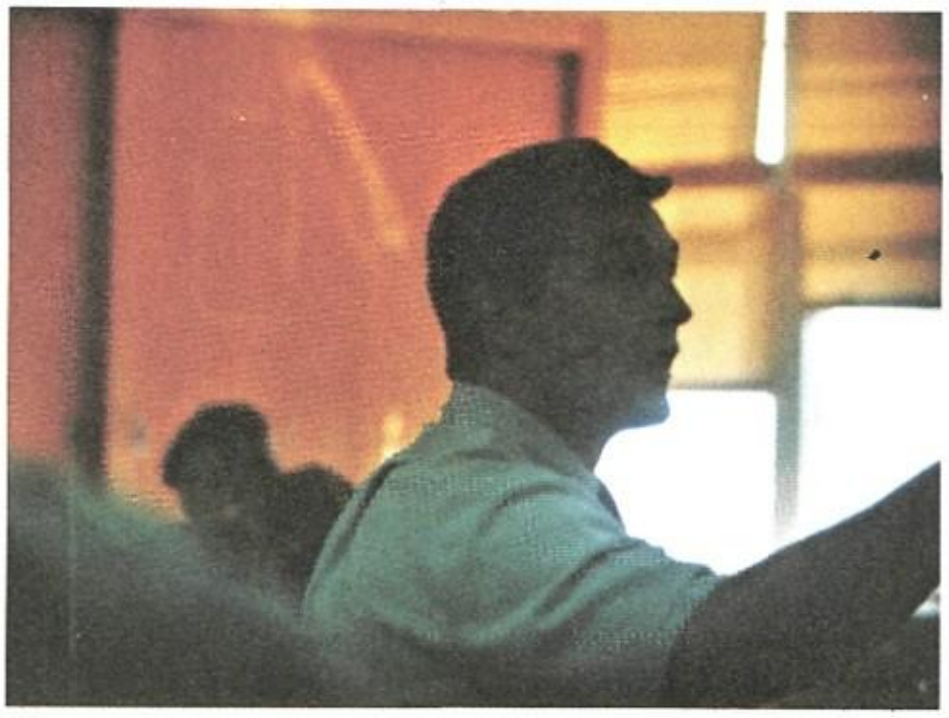
I am now one person yet many people, wrapped up in myself yet involved with others.

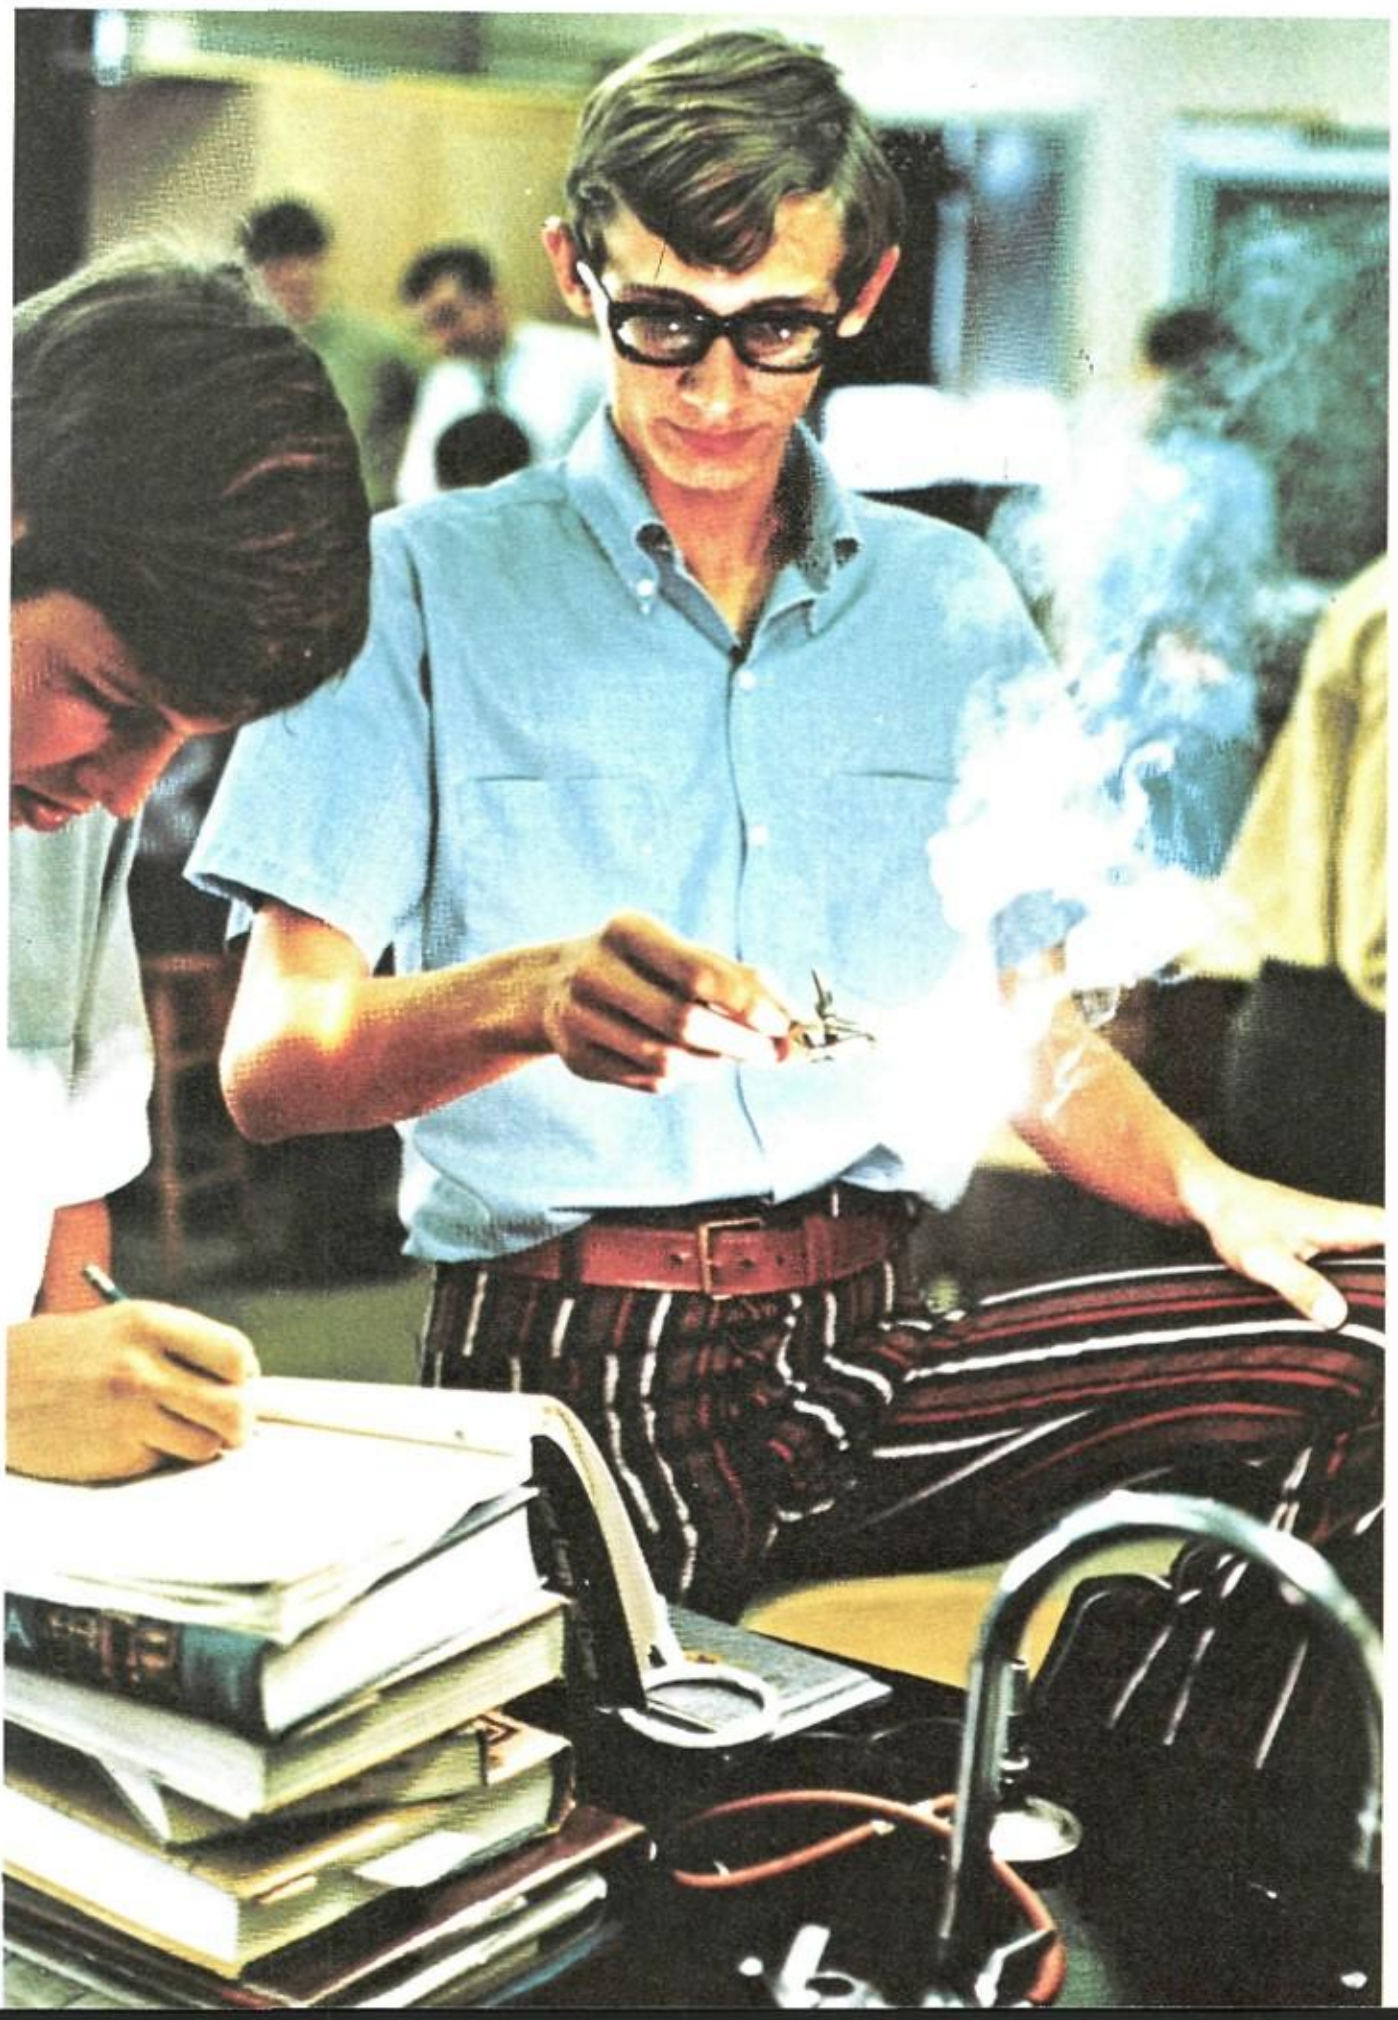


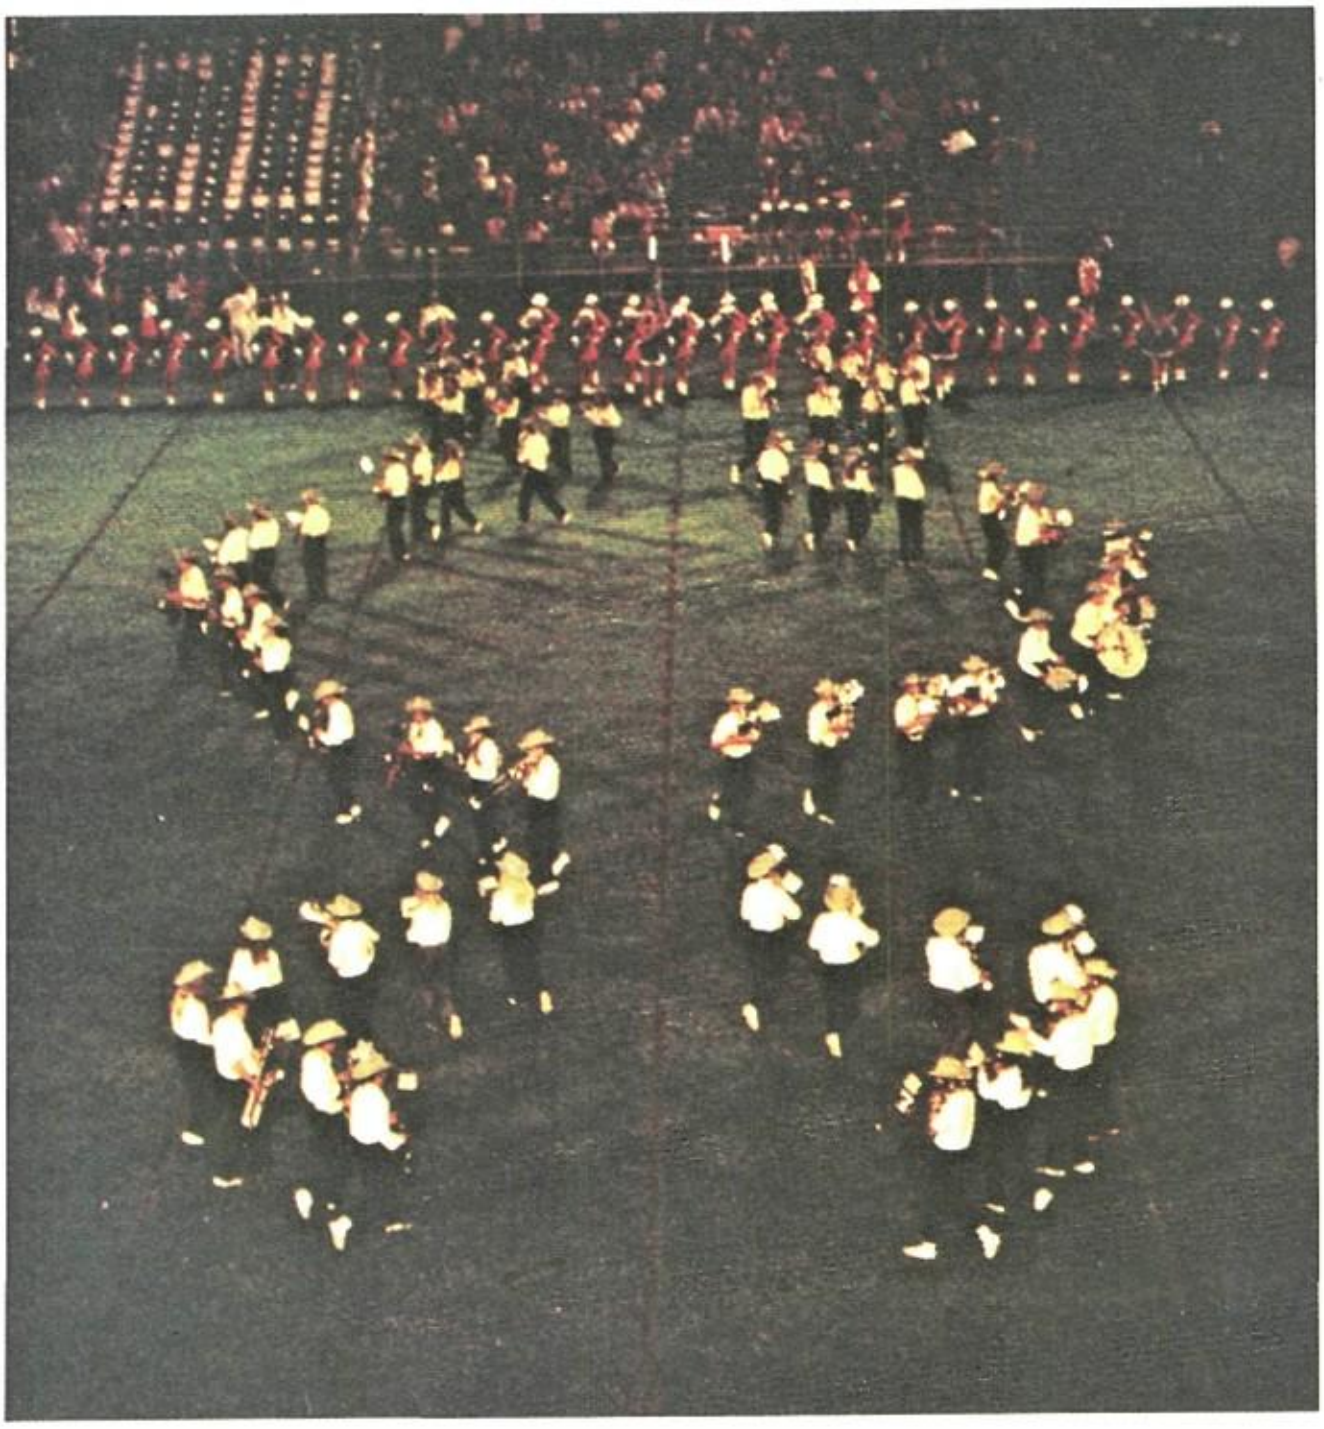


Involvement is necessary . . . for our future achievements are but a product of present accomplishments.

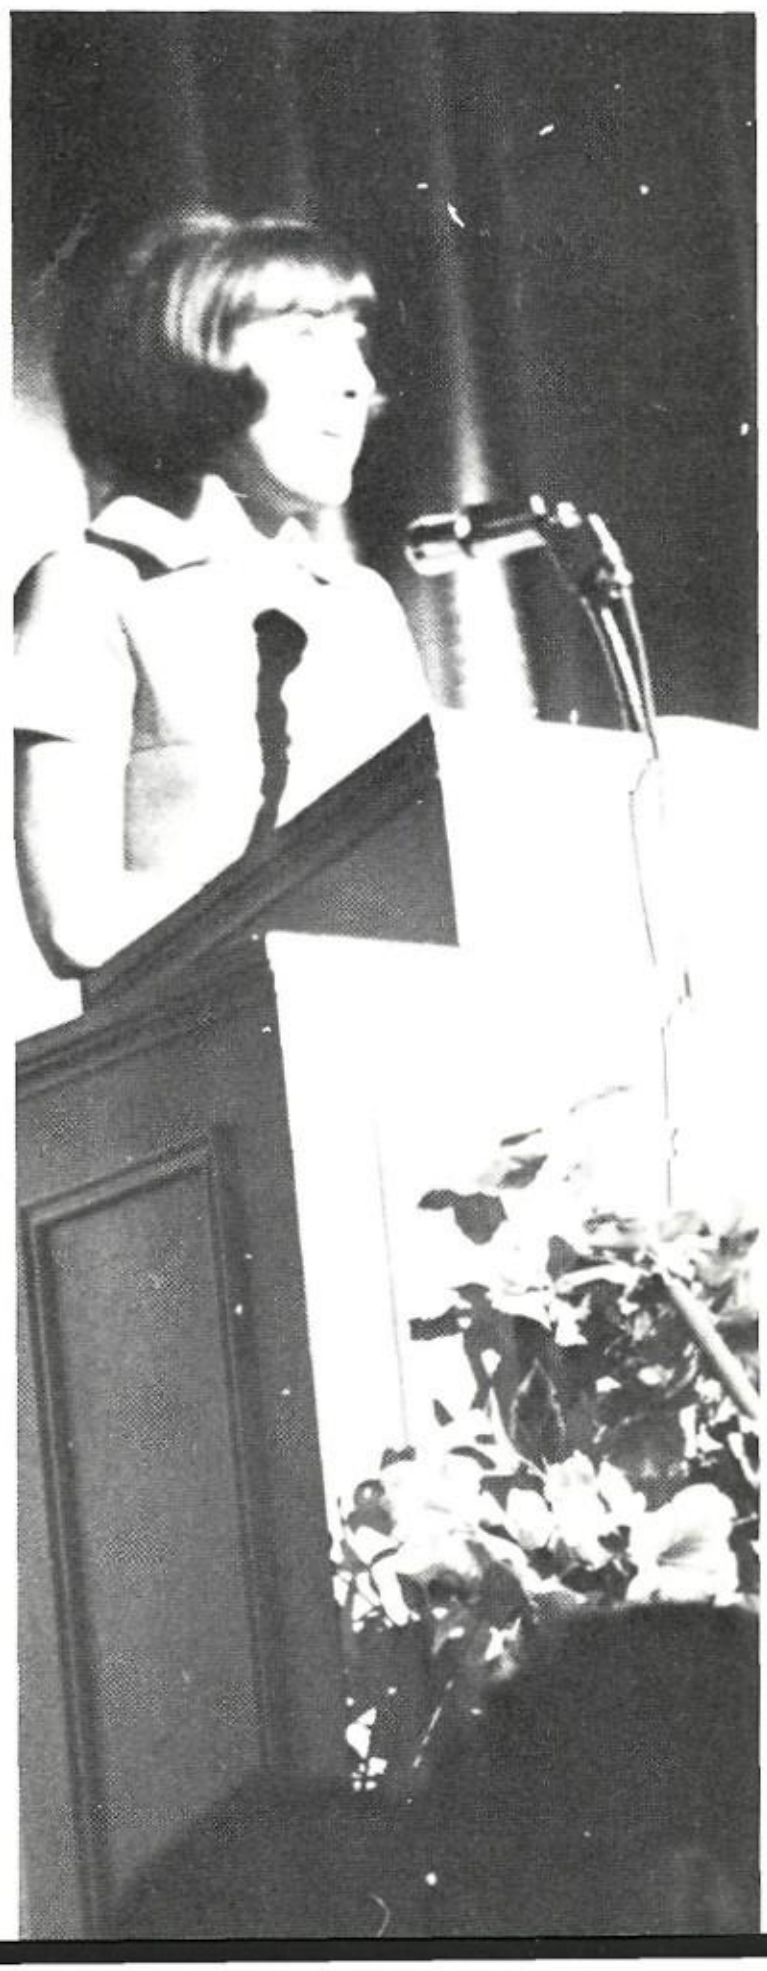




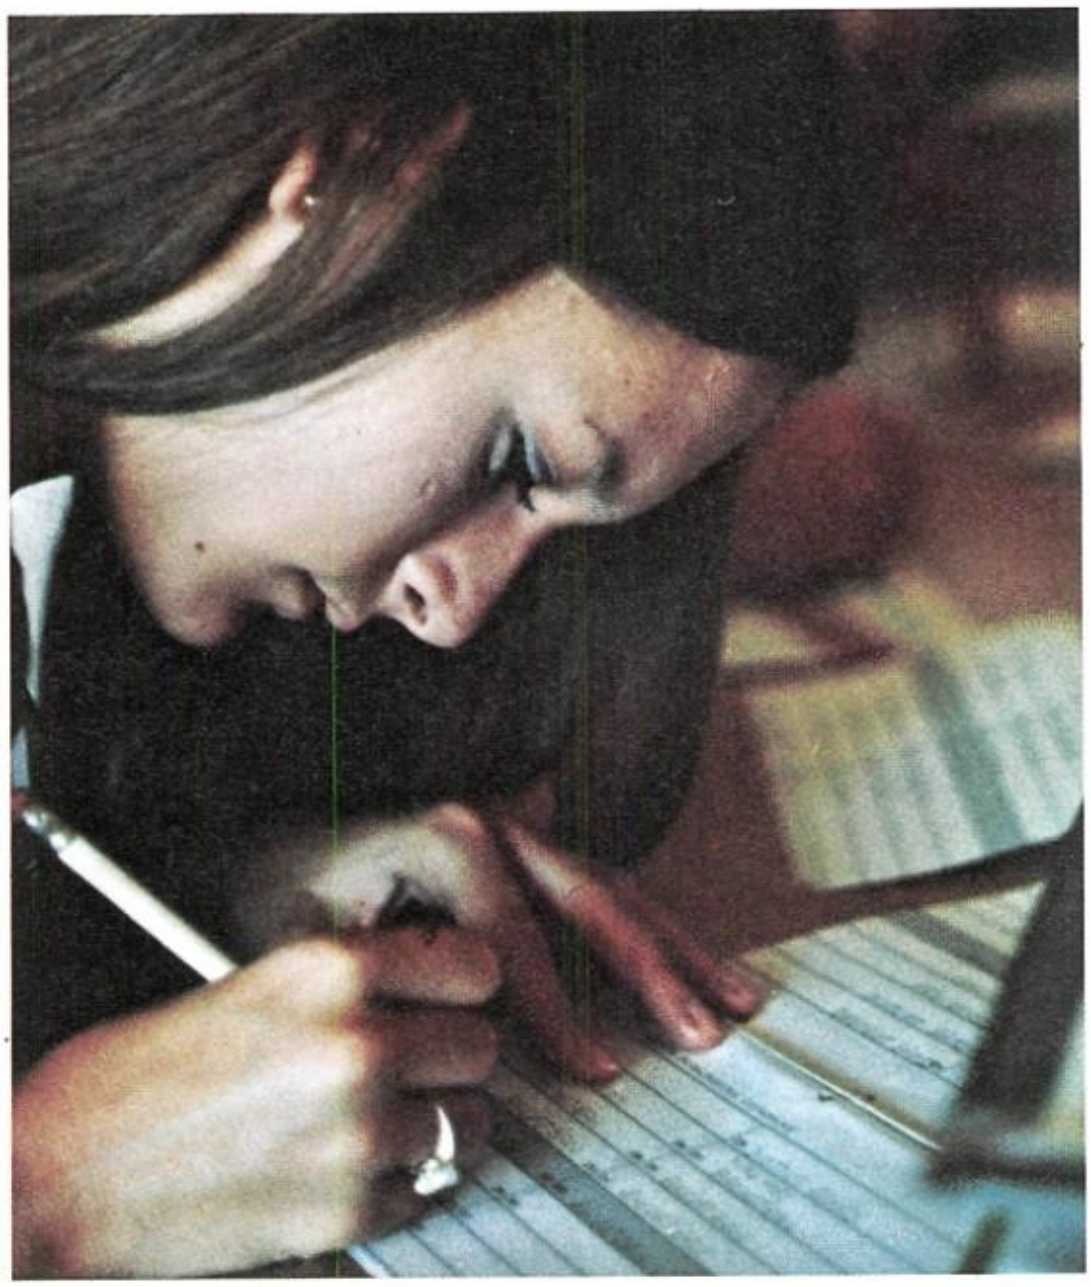




We work toward different goals through individual effort, yet we function as a team.



Through our involvement separation becomes unity. We stand united in a search for wisdom.



We look for answers, probing and prying into the deep and dark.

And if we dig deep enough, someday
we may find the answers
we're looking for

We spread our wings and fly – some of us for the first time, some barely leave the ground . . .

Cheryl,
It's hard to think of anything to say. Silence says more than anything, but I'll give it the old college try and write you a book. It seems like only yesterday that we were playing basketball, climbing trees, and riding bicycles. But that was our childhood, and now we are all grown up (well, you and I will never grow up, but I guess I could say semi-grown up), right? In 6 months you will be married and I will be a woman of the world. I hope that doesn't have to mean our good times are over. But I can't see a married woman and a woman-of-the-world behaving like we do now, can you? I guess when school is all over and we have established ourselves elsewhere, we will look back on the good times and bad times and wish we could relive them all. But there isn't much time left, so we better get out there and FIND THAT ACTION while we can. Love ya, Lynda

Cheryl,

Ur a real cool chick, who I have enjoyed in my Lomaking class. It really has been nice knowing you & you have really been a great friend. I hope all your hopes & dreams come true, cuz I know they will anyway. Keep going to those wild parties & tantrums out to the max (Jimmy J). Real Jacks aft you & have fun bungy in Aspen. I hope we will be good friends aft you & have fun getting married & that sort of shit.

Love,
Kathy Jones

Cheryl -
You are really and truly one of the very nicest gunners I know. It has been a lot of fun getting to know you on range making this year.
Next year should be your very best one. Still hope you have lots of fun.
Maybe we'll see ya some-where down the road. Good luck always & God Bless ya.

Ken,
Leigh Ann Keiser

Cheryl,
Hey read-on-top!
(As Couch Dickens would say.) It's really been fun this year in history & English. We didn't learn much in history, but a lot of English. Mrs. W. is a pretty good teacher. Good luck always & remember the fun things we did this year. (Not much)

Cheryl,
It's been lots of fun in Shorthand (when we don't do anything!)
Good Luck in the future.
God Bless you, keep smiling and you'll go far.

Cheryl,
It's been fun knowing you this year. You're a wonderful girl. I hope that your marriage works out. There's not to much I can say. You will always be one of my best friends. I wish things could have worked out for Lynda and V. I really have had fun when we three went to the football game. Stay sweet.
God Bless you.
Charley

Cheryl,
Remember the Cheerse Knock-backs! We had a lot of fun in gym last year, didn't we. This year was fun too. What about Shorthand! Remember how long your arms were before you started with PSS and remember you even had hands! Good luck in all you try to do.
God bless
Love,
Jackie
